Our regular policy will be 3 changes a week. Continuous show daily from 1:30 to 10:30

STRAND ALL DOLLED UP; OP- ENS MONDAY

NEW MANAGEMENT HAS REAR-
RANGED ENTIRE THEATRE

Will Run Continuous Show in the Future; Also to Have Some Vaudeville

The Strand Theatre has been re-juvenated, redecorated, and rearranged in such a way that the old patrons will scarcely recognize the movie house when it opens again Monday, March 9th, under the new management. George Roeman and his men have brought about a transformation that is wonderful and artistic, and many other changes have taken place. There will be only one aisle that in the center and will give the theatre a seating capacity of almost 500.

An entire new ventilating system has been installed and a fresh circulation of air constantly is the result.

The stage has been changed in order that vaudeville numbers can also be put on and this to brought a rearrangement in the lighting system. All the floors have been carpeted in velvet, and the stage curtaining also in velvet blend in with the color scheme.

A large Robert Morton organ properly installed will be played by Randolph Maynard of Buffalo, N. Y., who has played pipe organs in some of the largest movie theatres in the east, and his musical interpretation of the pictures is said to be marvelous.

The new Strand beginning Monday will also start a new policy. A continuous performance will be given beginning at 1:30 until 10:30 P. M. This is to be a permanent thing and a new departure in Holland.

The Strand will open Monday with Jackie Coogan's latest film, namely "The Ragman" which will continue for three days. The last three days of the week Marion Davis will appear in "Yolanda" which has just closed at the Roosevelt theatre, Chicago where seats were selling at $2.

The usual news reels and excellent comedies together with novelty pictures will intersperse the program.

A. L. Merritt, the new manager who came from New York state recently, sold his chain of theatres in the East and came to Holland, and he states that he is going to make a go of it here.

Smiling Maurice Hanna, who has been connected with the theatre for nearly four years will remain with the new management, and this fact will also be pleasing to the patrons.

Mr. Hanna was rather unfortunate more than a year ago when he was suddenly taken ill and was confined to Roosevelt Memorial hospital for nearly six months. His absence occurred just at a period when the Strand gave great promise. However the new manager is very optimistic and promises the very best in screen art.

If the program to be given all next week presages what is to follow later, then the Strand will give some extra-ordinary bills, for "The Ragman" and "Yolanda" are A-1 moving picture stock.

The popular prices at the Strand will remain in vogue as heretofore.

LICENSE BOOST HAS BROT LESS HUNTERS INTO STATE

There is a feeling in certain circles that the Michigan non-resident deer hunters' license is unreasonable. Four years ago our legislature changed this license law, raising the fee from $25 to $50. It was passed with little opposition, but the prediction was made that it would have a tendency to drive deer hunters to other states and cut the revenue received from this source in half. The last year of the $25 license, 695 non-residents hunted deer in Michigan, netting the state, after deductions for commission were made $17,375. The season of 1922, the first of the high licenses, brought 255 out-of-state hunters into our deer country; 1923 150 came and 1924 this totaled 202.

This high license has cost the state at least $25,000 in fees during the last 3 years and proves that those who opposed the increase were right in their contention. If Michigan is desirous of driving sportsmen from the outside states away from her game coverts, small town merchants and hotels, the high license will do it.

HERE IS A CLIPPING FROM AN OLD FILE COPY 25 YEARS AGO

Grand Rapids Herald.—Bicycle dealers were looking forward to a prosperous season in 1900. Though snow lay deep on the ground the first week in March, dealers were already interesting customers in the new century models. Perhaps it had not occurred to you that the two-wheeled vehicle our fathers and mothers found so exciting created a good roads problem. But one of the important subjects the League of American Wheelmen was working on in 1900 was good roads, which in most cases meant to the wheelman oiled dirt roads.

HOLLAND FURNACE TO HAVE LARGE EASTERN FACTORY

BUYS 20 ACRES OF GROUND IN BETHLEHEM, PENN.

Raw Material, Good Territory, and Freight Connections Enter In

Mr. A. H. Landwehr of the Holland Furnace company states that in the near future a large eastern plant is to be built at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, the home of the largest steel industry in the world. The local company has purchased 20 acres of land and building operations will begin in a very short time.

The Holland company plans to put up its first building unit at a cost of $150,000.00 and when completed 150 men will be employed, mostly in foundry operations. After this building is complete, another unit will be started with a third following.

The local company has been contemplating this move for some time for several reasons. In the first place it is in the heart of the steel district where furnace building material is right at hand. Freight conditions are wonderful and what is more, the Holland Furnace company has been doing a fine business in that territory and prospects for a handsome increase, with the product close at hand is inevitable, and besides, there is a great deal of labor to be found at Bethlehem well versed in the handling of iron work. For these various reasons the local company felt that the Bethlehem district would be an ideal place to erect a second large branch.

In speaking to Charles Karr, the wide awake advertising man of the Holland Furnace company, he stated that he expected the plant at Bethlehem to be built nearly as large as the one in Holland.

The Bethlehem Globe devotes nearly a column to the new industry coming to their town, praising the Chamber of Commerce of Bethlehem for so successfully bringing to the city another new industry. It tells that the president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Hutchingson came to Holland last fall for the purpose of negotiating with the officials of the local Furnace company.

The paper continues to state that is the biggest industry secured in Bethlehem for some time, also gives a history of the local Furnace company; its wonderful business methods; a description of its plant in Holland and the one in Cedar Rapids, Iowa as well.

The fact that the Holland Furnace company is to build a large plant in the east will not alter the policy here, but will have a tendency to increase rather than diminish the volume done in all the plants, the managements states.

REV. HOEKSEMA TO DELIVER TWO SPEECHES TO-NIGHT ON "COMMON GRACE"

Rev. Herman Hoeksema of Eastern Avenue church, Grand Rapids, will deliver two addresses in Holland tonight on "Common Grace". Mr. Hoeksema received the information that the Woman's Literary club rooms would be packed and overflowing at 8 o'clock tonight. He stated if that was the case he would appear at the local club rooms at 8 o'clock for the first discourse and would repeat the lecture on "Common Grace" again at 8 o'clock tonight. The Woman's Literary Club will accommodate about 600 people.

HAMILTON TEACHER
STAGES UNIQUE WASH-INGTON CELEBRATION

Principal Kaechelle of Hamilton, Allegan county, recently staged a unique Washington's birthday celebration, the pupils giving an appropriate program in which the famous cherry tree and the little axe naturally played a prominent part.

After the program the teacher staged a social hour, and the pupils were each given a large cut of cherry pie with ice cream trimmings.

The teacher explained that the cherries came from other trees than the one cut down by the "father of our country."

GRAND RAPIDS TURNS
DOWN SOLDIERS MONU-MENT AT POLLS

Grand Rapids voters turned down the proposed $300,000 bond issue for erection of a commemorative war memorial in Fulton park.

This proposal, which required a three-fifths vote for adoption, failed by 1,537 of an even majority.

Whether this decision means Grand Rapids has forever declined to erect a memorial to its own sons and daughters who have fought in the wars in which this country has been engaged or whether it means another type of memorial is actually desired is a question which only the future can determine.

HAMILTON CORRESPONDENT
COMPLIMENTS P. M.

Says the Hamilton correspondent: It has been noticed of late that the Pere Marquette accommodation is arriving and leaving more nearly on time than has been questioned, and it has been asked whether the new alliance with the Nickel Plate system is responsible. Some are saying, "Won't she look bright and swell when the nickel is all on?"

TWENTY-EIGHT CANS OF BROOK TROUT CAME TO OTTAWA COUNTY

Frank Salisbury deputy state game warden, announces that twenty-eight cans of brook trout fry will be received in Ottawa co. today for planting in local creeks and streams. Each can is supposed to contain about two thousand trout which will give some of the local creeks a nice little start.

Mr. Salisbury plans on planting some in Little Black Creek in Little Pigeon Creek and in some of the small streams of Robinson township. The officer will be assisted by Dr. Presley and by members of the Izak Walton League.

GIVE VOTE OF THANKS FOR GAS VICTORY

ALDERMEN HONOR CHAS. H. Mc
BRIDE, R. B. CHAMPION AND FRANK DYKE

Rising Vote Shows These Men That
Their Efforts Are Greatly Appreciated

The common council gave a fine expression of appreciation last night for the work done by City Attorney McBride, R. B. Champion of the board of public works, and Frank Dyke in securing a reduction of ten cents in the gas rate in Holland. A motion was made that the council should give these men a rising vote of thanks and this was enthusiastically responded to by the aldermen when they all arose for a moment from their seats.

The vote came When City Attorney McBride made his regular report to the council in regard to the outcome of the gas matter. The details of the matter were known to all and the report was merely a matter of form. The aldermen also knew how much work had been done by the three men to bring about this satisfactory result and the vote of thanks was a spontaneous expression of the council's appreciation.

Mayor Kammeraad emphasized the significance of the vote when he said: "his vote is more than deserved. It must be remembered that Mr. Champion is not a gas engineer but in spite of that fact he did exceptionally valuable work. He bumped up against some of the best gas engineers available to the company but his work was so well handled that he was able to do a valuable bit of service to the city. The same thing is true of Mr. McBride at the legal end of the matter. He went single-handed up against well known attorneys who had much experience in that kind of thing and he came back with a victory for Holland. And the aid and co-operation of Mr. Dyke also merits the highest praise.

Some one suggested that the aid and backing of Mayor Kammeraad himself should also be recognized but the mayor refused to include it in the motion and he arose with the rest of the aldermen to do honor to the three men named.

COUNCIL DECIDES ON DAYLIGHT SAVING AGAIN

DATES WILL BE SAME AS THOSE IN GRAND RAPIDS, ALDER-
MEN VOTE

Holland is to have daylight saving time again the coming summer. This was decided by a unanimous vote of the aldermen at the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday evening.

Alderman Slagh brought up the subject. He declared that it has repeatedly been shown by a vote of the people that the citizens of Holland want daylight saving time in the summer and thence it should no longer be necessary to take a referendum on the subject but the council is justified in being guided by the expression of the will of the people at elections other years.

He moved that the common council give Mayor Kammeraad the right to issue a proclamation establishing daylight saving time in accordance with the dates adopted by Grand Rapids. No one seemed to know exactly when Grand Rapids will go on the new schedule but the impression was that it is the middle of April. Whatever the Grand Rapids dates are, the same dates will be adopted in Holland.

It was pointed out that in case a large number of the people of Holland should be dissatisfied with this arrangement they have the privilege of petitioning the council to put the coming city election which is to be held on the first Monday in April.

LAKE VIEW CLUB
ARE TO GIVE EXCELLENT
PROGRAM FRIDAY

There will be an exceptionally interesting meeting of the Lake View P.-T. club on Friday evening, March 6, and it is expected that a very happy and profitable hour will be enjoyed by the largest attendance yet this year. Mr. William Dalman and Henry Maatman are in charge of the program and have arranged for the address, "The Bible and Life" to be given by Rev. Theodore DeVinney, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Holland. The musical features will be of like excellence. A quartette, Mr. Herman Cook, tenor; Mr. Ralph Van Lente, second tenor; Mr. Richard Van Kalken, first base and Mr. Gerard Cook, 2nd base. Miss Majorie DuMez will play a piano solo and Mr. Jacob Pelson will give a reading.

Mrs. Dalman and Mrs. Maatman of Montello Park are on the refreshment committee, which further insures a good attendance.

HOPE GLEE CLUB GIRLS TO SING AT TRINITY CHURCH

Next Sunday evening the Girls' Glee club of Hope College will sing in Trinity Reformed Church. The Club has just returned from a tour in the East singing in churches in Cleveland, Rochester, Schenectady, Albany, Bayonne, Brooklyn and New York City. Everywhere splendid audiences listened with great interest to the Glee Club. Their appearance in the Trinity Church Sunday evening will be the first in this city since their return from their trip. They will give two or three numbers. The public is invited to come and hear.

The following election inspectors were named Wednesday night by the council for the coming primary: John Arendshorst, Joe Kolan, Chas. Van Duren, Jr., Wm. Lawrence, Fred Yonkman, N. J. Jonker, and Klas Buurma.

SCHOOL AND CITY BUDGETS ARE HIGHER

APPROPRIATION BILL CALLS FOR
GRAND TOTAL OF $379,653.00
COMING YEAR

City Budget $176,653, School $203,000;
Increase of Former $29,417, of Latter $14,000

It will cost the people of Holland $29,417 more the coming year to run the city government than it did the past year, according to the annual appropriation bill that was passed by the council Wednesday evening. Last year the amount raised by taxes for city purposes was $147,236, while the amount of the appropriation bill passed Wednesday night was $176,653.

In school taxes the city will have to raise $14,000 more this year than last year. The total amount of school taxes in the appropriation bill passed Wednesday night is $203,000 while last year the total raised was $189,000. The school budget is therefore $26,347 more than the budget for the rest of the city expenses the coming year.

The assessed valuation of the city, on the basis of which the appropriation to meet this budget will be raised is $15,337,380. The money to be raised by taxes would be more if it were not for the fact that the board of public works pays $15,990 for city improvements out of the earnings of the municipal plant. In the past three years the board has paid out about $45,000 in this way, making the burdens of the tax payers that much lighter.

An item of $9,000 that was required for the preliminary work for paving of 10th and 16th streets was cut out of the appropriation bill. The street committee four weeks ago was given permission to advertise for bids for this work the coming summer. But since the appropriation for it is not forthcoming the work cannot be done and will have to wait until the spring of 1926.

An item of $1700 for an added member on the police force was also eliminated from the appropriation bill.

The items passed were: general fund $24,150; poor fund $5,900; street fund $58,375; public building fund $500; health fund, $4,150; fire department fund $31,360; police fund $15,250; library fund $2,500; armory bond sinking fund $2,950; park fund $17,763; general sewer fund $7,125; fire alarm fund $2,100; hospital fund $2,500; total of city budget $176,653; school budget $203,000, grand total $379,653.

PAIR SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS OF BIBLICAL STUDY

To serve from one to fifteen years each in the state reformatory and while there obtain a Bible and every Sunday write the ten commandments, was the sentence passed by Judge W. E. Campbell Montezano, Wash., on Frank Garlinghouse and Charles Parker, lads of 17. The two pleaded guilty of stealing an auto. Every Monday they must mail their written copies of the Biblical quotations to the Superior Court Judge.

BAKERY PETITION WAS UP AGAIN

TWO PETITIONS FOR RIGHT TO BUILD OIL STATIONS ARE RE-FERRED TO COMMITTEES

The petition for the right to build an addition to the Vanderschel bakery bobbed up again at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night although it had been rejected two weeks ago on recommendation of the regular committee by a vote of eight to four of the aldermen. Last night the council referred the petition to a special committee composed of Aldermen Visscher, Kiels and Slagh. These men will make a thorough investigation and report back to the council.

A petition submitted by Mr. Pelson for the right to build an oil station at the intersection of 8th street and Geritson avenue was referred to a committee composed of Aldermen Dykstra, Drinkwater and Vander Hill.

A petition of the W. W. Oil Co. for the right to build an oil station at the corner of First Avenue and 17th St. was referred to a special committee composed of Aldermen Brieve, Van Zanten and Brinkman.

WALTON LEAGUE NOW SUG-GEST LONGER PERCH LENGTH

The recommendations of the Izak Walton League that the limit of perch caught in our inland waters should be raised to eight inches is good, but they could go a step farther and make this nine inches, the same limit that now applies to perch taken from the Great Lakes. A change such as this would only mean that the chances of natural reproduction in 2-year-old perch, will be greatly increased, that is something our inland waters need. This change should be incorporated in our fish law revisions of this year. —Detroit Free Press.

ENDEAVOR TO GET $25,000
FOR GRAND HAVEN PARK

A party of Grand Haven men composed of city officials, members of the council and representatives of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce, motored to Lansing to attend the hearing on the bill recently introduced for the expenditure of $25,000 on the State park there in extending the concrete oval.

Included in the official delegation from that city were Mayor C. W. Cotton, Aldermen John Welch, John Huizenga and Arie Van Toll and Paul R. Taylor, city manager.

Senator Vincent A. Martin recently introduced a bill into the senate for the appropriation of $25,000 for state park improvement and extension at Grand Haven. This improvement has been needed for the last two years and it is hoped that the measure will go through in order that the oval may be extended and parking space for more cars secured.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The Republican caucus in Holland township is to be held Saturday, March 14 at 1:30 o'clock at Holland Township Hall on the Zeeland-Holland road. At that time township officers will be elected and such other business transacted as may properly come before the meeting.

J. Y. HUIZENGA,
J. Y. DEUR,
J. P. KLEIS,
Republican Committee.

OTTAWA CO. WOMAN EX- HIBITS IN NATIONAL SHOW

Mrs. H. Geerts of Holland is one of the prominent Ottawa county exhibitors in the National Seed Corn show held in Chicago, March 2 to 7, at least $17,000 in prizes is being offered by the Agricultural Foundation Society. Mrs. Geerts is out after the Kittle trophy of $1000 offered for the best ear of seed corn in America.

MEN WHO KILLED G. R. GROCER CONFESS THREE SLAYERS ARE GIVEN LIFE TERMS

The mystery that has surrounded the slaying of Frank E. Kugler, a grocer at North Park, Grand Rapids, more than a week ago, when he was shot down in his store by supposed bandits, has at last been solved.

The three Grand Rapids men who have been grilled by superintendent of police A. A. Carroll and staff since early Saturday are Kenneth Martin, 19, Corinne St., S. W.; Howard Baker, 18, of 337 Dickinson St., S. W., and Emory Driscoll, 18, of 250 Hall St., S. W.

After many hours of hard work on the part of the Grand Rapids police, their efforts were rewarded early Sunday morning when confessions were made by the three young men in question.

"I shot him—I had to! I said, 'hold on there, old man, stand still!' but he raised his gun, a big shining gun, and I got excited and didn't want to shoot, but he would have got all three of us so I opened up on him and he fell. That's how it all turned out, just as I knew it would—as it always does. When you're playing a losing game."

This was the hysterical confession of young Martin when he finally broke down under the fire of cross questions put to him by Chief Carroll.

Kenneth Martin, 19 years old, who admitted he didn't have the courage to "go straight" after several robberies had convinced him that crime would lead him to prison, slumped down into a big chair beside Supt. A. A. Carroll's desk at police headquarters Saturday and "came through."

He admitted he is the slayer of Frank E. Kugler, 66-year-old North Park grocer who was killed in his store on the night of Feb. 21, when he attempted to resist two young bandits, who had told him to "stick 'em up."

He confessed he shot the aged man twice when Kugler pointed a revolver at him—that he intended to "shoot 'em" and spare the grocer's life, but that in his excitement his shots went wild and incidentally led him to the state of facing life imprisonment for murder.

Emory Driscoll, 18, of 250 Hall St., S. D., who says he hasn't the nerve to handle a gun, stood beside Martin when the shooting took place, and outside waiting in a speedy stolen roadster last night—old Howard Baker, 337 Dickinson St., S. W., "chauffeur" for the bandit trio and in custody at headquarters with the other two.

Prosecutor Earl D. Munshaw Saturday night said he had conferred with Supt. Carroll and that murder charges will be filed Monday against the three youths. The prosecutor said the three indicated they would plead guilty.

The chair in which Martin sat when he confessed is the chair where many others facing a similar predicament have sat before him and the story he told was much like that which the others told. It demonstrated, in a word, not alone that "murder will out," but that punishment other than that meted out by man-made laws await the killer.

And Martin, dry-eyed, but face twitching, told how he had thought about the aged grocer in his death throes when he sat in the Metcalf undertaking rooms Saturday, before his arrest, witnessing funeral services for his father and the stepmother who had been a real mother to him and who had died within a few hours Thursday night after an illness.

"It's all coming back to me," he explained, "and without asking for mercy, asserted that he was unable to tell how within three short weeks he and his two pals carried on an amazing career of outwitting with the result that all three today may be charged jointly with having perpetrated a brutal murder."

Martin told Supt. Carroll with little urging all that pertained to the murder and other crimes of the three. When he had completed his story, Baker, dark-eyed and black-haired diminutive chauffeur for the three, told virtually the same tale of wrongdoing and he was followed by Driscoll.

For the first time since they separated after the Kugler slaying, the three were together in one cell block last night. Driscoll off-expressed fears that Martin might shoot him if "peached" had dwindled. "No hard feelings, are there?" asked Driscoll and the others answered "No." A few minutes later they were attempting to bribe a turnkey to run out and get them some sandwiches with a sum of money "pooled" by the three.

Confessions of the three in the murder case had been expected by the police chief and his detectives ever since the arrest of Martin and Baker Saturday. Driscoll has been held since last Tuesday. Gradually, Martin Saturday was led up to the night of the murder in his admissions regarding oil station hold-ups and car thefts, and unexpectedly, he asserted: "Well, I might as well tell. We did it!"

Martin said he had given up a job with a railroad he had held after a tiff with a sweetheart and that early in February he began "running around" with Driscoll and Baker, who similarly, had quit work. Baker had been driving a truck for an express company while Driscoll until recently was employed by a fruit company. "Wrestling with bananas," he termed it.

"I let my job go and spent my roll," Martin said. "Neither I nor Baker lived at home and early last week we started taking cars. We would drive around a while and then stick up an oil station, park the car some place and then repeat the act a few nights later."

"I had the only gun in the crowd and Driscoll always went into the place with me, while Baker drove. We held up three stations and the jobs were easy, but I knew we would get to the end of our rope and that we might hurt somebody and get in bad and told the others so. I said 'I'm not going to snitch any more cars; but they said 'we'll take 'em and all you'll have to do is go along, I don't know why I did it.'"

"On the night of the shooting, Driscoll and I got the car and picked up Baker at Division Ave. and West 11th St. After driving around a while, we went out to North Park, and, after looking things over, we decided to stick up the grocery. Driscoll went in and asked for some chocolates and I went in after him. As Driscoll was handing over the quarter for the candy, I told the old man to put up his hands."

"But he walked down behind the counter and pulled out a drawer and drew the gun—a big, shining gun. I told him to stand still, but he did not listen to me. He raised the gun and I thought he was going to get Driscoll. I didn't want to shoot, but I had to. I said to Driscoll, 'I'll shoot low,' and I shot twice, aiming at his arm, but the bullet must have glanced after hitting his arm and went into his body. We didn't know this though. When he followed us to the door before dropping, we thought he was not hit bad, and we did not know he was dead until we saw the papers next day."

"We didn't stop to get anything—we drove right into town and ditched the car."

Deploping the absence of a capital punishment law among the Michigan statutes, Circuit Judge M. L. Dunham sentenced the three youthful slayers of Frank L. Kugler, 66-year-old North Park merchant, to solitary confinement at hard labor for life when they appeared before him shortly after noon Monday and entered pleas of guilty.

White-faced, slightly nerve-shaken, but resigned, Emory Driscoll, 18, Howard Baker, 18, and Kenneth Martin, 19, gave voice to a monosyllabic utterance of admission of their guilt of murder as Prosecuting Attorney Earl W. Munshaw, before a crowded courtroom, completed the formal reading of the information.

And then they heard the court's expression of willingness to sentence them to death, if the law permitted, as the culmination of their long series of crimes which ended on the evening of Saturday, Feb. 21, when Kugler, whom they attempted to hold up in his place of business, grasped the weapon he had kept for 20 years in his store for such an emergency. He was fatally wounded by Martin, the gunman, who had gone "crime mad."

"It is not a pleasant duty for the court to remove three boys just starting in life, just coming into early manhood, to a place where all future activities of yours will be cut off from the rest of the world," Judge Dunham said.

"You have already stated to me that you pleaded guilty because you were guilty and that you understood the charge in the information."

"If it was the law in this state that a death sentence should follow offenses of this kind, I should be perfectly satisfied to sentence you three boys to death. It is just such conduct as yours that is driving the people of this state into that condition of mind that the legislature is going to pass a law that in Michigan it shall be a life for a life."

The greater number of murders that are committed in the country today are being committed by men of about your ages, some a little younger, some a little older. For you to remain at large would be a menace to society. The only proper place for you is to put you where you can commit no more offenses like the offense you have now committed."

"There isn't any use of my lecturing to you. You have all had parents and mothers, and you are all young men of average intelligence, but without any feeling of humanity about you or any sense of your obligations to yourselves and your parents and the public."

"The only safe place for you is where you cannot run at large or continue to take the lives of innocent men. Upon this occasion you went into this man's store where he had a right to be, on his own property, conducting his own business, and molesting none; you boys go in there and maliciously and ruthlessly shoot him to death at a time in his life where he had been able by industry and saving to accumulate something to take care of him in his old age and to take care of his family, and in total disregard of his rights you go there and take his life."

"There isn't any excuse for it, and anything I might say to you would not do you any good. You will have time to stay in the prison and reflect upon what you have done, and the fact that you can sit there and realize that you have taken a human life without any reasons for it and of an innocent man, there may come to you a feeling of remorse such that it may help you boys to live up there as you ought."

"The sentence of the court is that you be and remain imprisoned in the branch prison at Marquette, Michigan, and in solitary confinement at hard labor for the terms of your lives."

PREDICT HOW LONG PRISON TERM WILL BE

Aware that "life imprisonment" under the existing Michigan pardon system means an average incarceration of 12 years, the three young murderers who killed Frank E. Kugler, Grand Rapids grocer, in adjoining cells at the Kent county jail Monday night appeared resigned to their fate and accepted their predicament with boyish optimism.

If the words, "solitary confinement at hard labor for life," as uttered by Judge Major L. Dunham a few hours before had swept away the carefree attitude of Baker and Driscoll, they failed to display any lack of interest in the life that will be theirs at least until they are mature men.

Reflecting upon the sentence that would stagger many a man with the full knowledge of the worth of liberty, Baker, diminutive chauffeur for the trio on their many exploits remarked: "Well, maybe we'll be out in ten years. The judge sure handed it to us, but we had it coming, and the 'solitary confinement' didn't sound good to me, but I guess there'll be an end to it sometime and maybe things will look different."

"We may get out in 12 years or so," commented young Driscoll, as he sat in a cell which was also occupied by Martin, due to the crowded condition of the jail. Then, as the wife of a former employer appeared with her husband to see Driscoll once more and wish him well, the young prisoner added: "I hope I come out a man. Maybe I'll get some sense by the time they let me go again."

Martin, who ever since his capture had been inclined to be despondent and worried, probably due to the death last week of his father and stepmother, was visibly relieved. "Well, I'm glad it's all over," he said. "I've felt ever since that affair at North Park that I didn't care what happened to me, but guess we'll have a make the best of it."

Among the visitors at the jail was Michael J. Riordan, owner of a drug store at 171 Madison Ave., SE. He had known young Driscoll ever since the young prisoner was a small boy and he asked him whether the three had broken into his store one night last month.

"Did you break into the store of your old friend, Loveland, too?" asked Riordan, "Naw", answered Driscoll. "Gee, people think we did every job that's happened for a year. We did stop at your store though, and busted a window and took a few watches. I kept mine for a day or two and then threw it away—for a dollar watch it held up pretty good. And both store owner and prisoner failed to restrain a laugh over the young bandit's humor."

Asked whether he was aware a policeman was approaching while the three were in the store, Driscoll said the pair "never stayed in a place long enough to get warm" and that they never watched the cops."

HOEKSEMA TO SPEAK IN W. L. C. HALL THURSDAY

The Grand Rapids papers, both in their advertising and news columns, have been giving publicity to the fact that Rev. Herman Hoeksema, of common grace fame, was to speak in Carnegie Hall Thursday evening of this week on the subject, "The Three Points." The local committee in charge of the arrangements announced today that it had been made necessary to make a change in the place of meeting and that the address will be delivered in the Woman's Literary club hall instead of in Carnegie hall. The time will remain the same as announced, namely Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

It is announced that there will be no admission charge and no collection. The doors will be open at 6:30 and in view of the great interest that has been aroused by the church controversy in Grand Rapids it is certain that the building will be packed to capacity long before the time of meeting begins.

FRED MEACHRON WANTS DOG WARDENS IN EVERY COUNTY

Bills to regulate dogs appear at about every regular legislative session. Rep. McEachron of Ottawa Co., has introduced the first dog bill of his session. It contemplates having boards of supervisors appoint county wardens to enforce a law enacted several years ago charging sheriffs with the duty of catching and killing unlicensed dogs. The dog warden bill is said to be endorsed by not a few sheriffs for the reason that nothing seems to render a sheriff so unpopular as seizing and putting out of existence unlicensed dogs. Some owners of just ordinary unlicensed dogs will criticize a sheriff so persistently as to cost him many votes if he again is a candidate for an elective office. With an appointive dog warden the sheriff's worries about his political future would be materially lessened.

From July 23 to August 21 this year properly qualified boys from the eight corps area, which includes Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, may take advantage of a month of intensive military training, without cost to them or to their parents. Camp Custer, the biggest and best camp in the whole roster of citizens military training camps, opens at Battle Creek July 23, for a season of military education. Last year about 10 boys from Ottawa county attended and an equally large attendance from here is expected this year.

To live out of doors for a month, under the most sanitary conditions, to be watched over and directed and taught by the most expert men in the military establishment of the United States; to benefit from body-building, drills and exercise; with plenty of time and opportunity for play; to learn self-control; to practice in the command of others; to wear the uniform of a soldier in the army of the United States of America; to have the most wholesome food the most expert medical attention and the constant oversight of kindly men who know and understand boys—all this costs the right kind of a boy nothing.

It not only costs him literally nothing, but there are no strings to this proposition. If a boy is between 17 and 24, of good character and in good physical trim, he is eligible to spend the time between July 23 and August 21 at Camp Custer. The requirements are simple; there is no obligation of future military service; though a boy is welcome to further training, and to service if he wants it. Camp Custer is equipped for work and for play. There are numerous base ball diamonds, hand ball courts in every company street, and tennis courts. Eagle Lake is ideal to swim in and the boys are transported to the lake and back every afternoon. The camp theatre seats 4,000 and there are movies every night, besides daily band concerts by military bands. Then there is a spacious hostess house, where receptions are held and dances given weekly. Parents and friends are welcomed as visitors.

All information about Camp Custer is available by writing Capt. J. G. Stevenson, Executive Secretary to C. S. Mott, Civilian Aide for Michigan, 11-103 General Motors Bldg., Detroit or to Ralph Routier, Chairman for Wayne County, at the same address.

At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the time limit expired for the filing of petitions to have names of candidates placed on the city primary ballot to be voted on March 17th. As had been predicted, comparatively few contests developed and in the case of most of the offices to be voted on, the primary will decide the issue because in most cases there is only one candidate, and even when there are two, the primary will decide the contest and it will not be necessary to carry it over to the election.

Following is the list of candidates for whom petitions have been filed with the city clerk:

Aldermen: First ward, A. Kleis; second ward, Frank Brieve and Henry Venhuizen; third ward, Gerrit Sprietsma; fourth ward, Oscar Peterson; fifth ward, Charles Dykstra, for the full term, and Alex Van Zanten for the part term; sixth ward, Arie Vander Hill.

City clerk, Richard Overweg; city assessor, C. W. Nibbelink; city treasurer, Murk B. Bowmaster; justice of the peace, Jay H. Den Herder; member of the board of public works, M. Vander Water; member of the board of police and fire commissioners, G. Cook and Bert Vander Poel; Supervisors, Simon Kleyn and Henry Vander Warf; Constables, 3rd ward, Gerrit Van Haften; 5th ward, Jacob Lievens.

GRAND HAVEN GETS ALL THRILLS OUT OF QUAKE

Grand Haven always gets the thrill out of everything if there is a thrill to be had and the earthquake of Saturday was no exception. Holland was not so fortunate or unfortunate according to how you look at it.

According to the Grand Haven Tribune report, the county seat must have gone thru a regular earthquake "Shimmy" for it states that residents who were indoors and who were in the throes of excitement at the basketball game, rushed out of the doors as walls commenced to tremble, floors as palpitate and delicate furniture to skate about the house.

A little group of Elks at the G. H. Elks' lodge rooms noticed the shock and there was a rush to get down stairs in such haste that the party might have been said to have rolled down in a bundle.

The Gildner Hotel was badly shaken, one of the guests in his room declaring that the mirror of a dresser waved back and forth while the walls trembled and shook in a manner that nearly made him seasick. Grand Haven stores felt the quake, and many shoppers edged their way downwar, when they felt the walls shake and the floors tremble.

The largest gathering of people in the city, the crowd at the high school gym, did not feel the shock for it is most at the exact minute of the tremor, the Havenites started an offensive that ended in a score for the home team and gave fans reason to create a little earthquake on their own account. At the big garage fire, spectators did not feel the quake, they either being too interested in the blaze or the effects being of little consequence in the outdoors.

So far as is known, there was no damage or casualties. Reports were not filed from any source of cases where horsehoes, nailed above doorways, fell and in so doing crowned passersby or where pre-Volstead glass and earthenware toppled from dusty shelves or plate rail.

Mrs. Fred Addison, 404 Leggett street, felt the effects of the tremor most decidedly at about 8:25. Mrs. Addison was sitting in a rocking chair in the living room at her home. Suddenly she noticed the house began to heave, and the chair in which she was sitting moved aside. The chandeliers and lighting fixtures swayed. Mrs. Addison's little son was lying on the floor playing, and he apparently did not notice the tremors.

Mrs. Addison immediately called up her husband at the Addison, Pellegrum & Colson store and he hurried home. The shock had not been felt at the store, but when Mr. Addison reached home the fixtures were still trembling.

William Seifert, of Seifert's Billiard parlors in the Elks block, says he did not feel the shock himself, but noticed the effects of it almost immediately after the tremors ceased. Mr. Seifert was at the counter at the front of the building when he heard a terrific clatter on the stairway leading down from the Elks club.

Within a few minutes the stair door entrance opened and sixteen or seventeen men rushed out to edge of the sidewalk and began looking up at the top of the building. The group had been in the club up stairs when the tremor started and they had no time getting out. One of the numbers stated afterwards that he never thought of an earthquake at the time, but feared there had been an explosion in the basement. The building appeared to heave considerably, and pictures swung on the walls.

Several residents of the "hill" section felt the tremors more or less violently, and in one home the mantel clock stopped at just 8:25, due undoubtedly to the vibration of the walls. Guests at the Gildner hotel felt the tremors quite decidedly, but few were aware as to the cause of the disturbance.

A clerk in one of the downtown stores states that he became violently nauseated for a few moments, just about 8:25 Saturday night. He knew nothing of the earthquake at that time.

Every now and then some one comes across who declares that the people who do not keep their walks clear of snow ought to be put into the city lockup or ought to be given some other salutary lesson to teach them how to be good citizens. But just for variety today there came a complaint which will make all the lazy ones who have not been cleaning their walks feel like patting themselves on the back and treating themselves to an extra cigar.

"Won't you make an appeal," said a housewife and mother, "that people will refrain from clearing their walks too completely of snow. I have had in mind all winter to make this appeal but forgot it from time to time. Then the recent thaw made me think it would not be necessary but the present storm has reminded me of it."

"Many people clear every speck of snow off their walks and those of us mothers are up against a difficult job. It is impossible to draw the sleds over the cement walks and so we have to go into the street or along the curb through the deep snow."

"Many citizens are far too conscientious about cleaning their walks. They must be the kind who haven't any children or who have forgotten the time when their children were small. Cleaning the walks is all right but if those who want to do this would be thoughtful enough to leave a narrow strip of snow along the edge just wide enough for a child's sled to pass over they would win the gratitude of all mothers of small children."

So after this the chap who is too lazy to clean his walk has a very good excuse.

LOCAL

Miss Anna Klinge was a Grand Rapids visitor Saturday.

The pupils of the sixth grade of Horace Mann school have chosen purple and white for the school colors. A banner has been made of these colors by the teachers and was presented to the club Tuesday night at the auction sale to be held for the purpose of raising funds for the school picnic in June.

Holland boys are still up to small town tricks, it seems. A few days ago a bevy of ladies, out shopping, were made to scurry hither and thither when they spied a yelping hound charge at them. The dog did not have the ladies in mind, however, but went by and at its tail was noticed a cluster of five cans dangling. Officer Stoketee gave chase and relieved the dog of the extra appendage.

Mrs. Albert Stool was successfully operated on at the local hospital in the past. Her condition is satisfactory.

The farm residence of John Broe, six miles southwest of Fennville, was damaged by fire of undetermined origin Saturday morning. The fire gained headway before the arrival of assistance from Fennville and damage of $2,000 was done.

Rev. James De Pree of Sioux Center, Ia., hopes this year to celebrate the fifty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as a minister. Mr. De Pree is the oldest living graduate of Hope college and Western Seminary, completing his theological course in 1870. His first charge was the Reformed church at Spring Lake.

The Detroit Times of Sunday contains a quarter page cut of Hope's basket ball team of this year. Some of the boys are shown in action and the paper states that this is Western Michigan's finest five. Riemersma, Van Lente, Irving, Albers, Ottipoby, Popen and Yonkman are shown in the picture.

The P. T. club of school district no. 2, Holland township, gave a very entertaining program at their meeting Friday evening, consisting of music rendered by Van Dyk's orchestra; piano solo by Miss Eva Clark; musical selections, Fairbanks Bros.; vocal solo, Rhine Fishes; playlet, Miss Kasten.

A surprise party was staged Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Oss, East 23rd street. Mr. and Mrs. Van Oss have been living for the past six years in Akron, Iowa, and now they have come back to Holland to make their home here. They were welcomed with a surprise by the neighbors and other friends.

The Goodrich Transit Co., of which the Graham and Morton Co. of this city is now a part, has during the past week sent to many citizens of Holland a bundle of picture postal cards, ten in number. Each card pictures one of the company's steamers and among these are to be found the Indiana, Arizona, Carolina, Alabama, Christopher Columbus, ("Whale Back"), Pilgrim, Illinois and Grand Rapids. The Holland steamers are not in the cards.

Aug. 21-31—Y. W. C. A. Business Girls—125.

RACE ACROSS LAKE MICHIGAN

The big car ferry Grand Haven with her four thousand horsepower is still the greyhound of the lakes and probably will be for some time to come. Recently in approaching Milwaukee the Grand Haven and the new Pere Marquette 21 had it out for speed with the result that the challenger fell far behind as has been the custom when other ships try speed with the "Grand" as she is known to the marine fraternity.

"When they want to get a boat on the lake that will hand the old Grand Haven a trimmings for speed, they'll have to build one," said a member of the Grand Trunk organization. The challenge has been flung and in spite of her years, the Grand Haven stands ready to take them all on for speed. With the new Pere Marquette boat out there, the only unknown quantity is the new Ann Arbor car ferry No. 7. Whether she can match speed with the Grand Haven is a question as the new boat is primarily an ice crusher and is not supposed to be exceedingly fast.

The Grand Haven also has the k. o. sign on passenger boats. It has been long rumored that one time the steamship United States attempted to try speed with the old car carrier and that while a battle royal ensued, the Grand Trunk ferry cleaned her rival hands. The United States is anything but a slow boat so if this victory be true, it puts the Grand Haven in pretty fair company.

Commanded by Captain Edward Martin and with Edward Patridge presiding over the engine room, the big steamer has been making trips all winter. It is the twenty-third year in service for the Gr. Haven, she having been built in 1902. It will be remembered that when the car ferry 79 of the Pere Marquette line was stranded near G. Haven, it was the two Grand Trunk ferries, Milwaukee and the Grand Haven that finally released the boat.

The Holland Teachers' club and the Woman's Literary club have joined forces to bring to Holland an entertainment that for many will take the place of a trip to Washington, D. C. On the evening of March 10th, these two organizations will bring to Holland Charles Colfax Long, well known lecturer and traveler, whose theme will be "Washington: Our National Shrine." Mr. Long's home is in Washington and he knows intimately every feature of interest in the most beautiful city in America. The lecture will be at the high school auditorium.

Mr. Long will bring with him over 200 exquisite hand-colored and natural color photographic slides. He will take his audience to such places of interest as the Lincoln Memorial, said by some to be the most impressive monument in America, the Washington monument, the capitol, the White House. It will be like taking a personally conducted tour through Washington with the added advantage of receiving information about each place visited that only one long familiar with them can give.

Miss C. M. Blakeslee of Spring Lake has received word of the death of her brother-in-law, C. C. Stocking in Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Stocking has been a resident of the California city for a number of years. He suffered a stroke of paralysis some time ago and has been in ill health since. Mr. Stocking for many years made his home in Grand Haven and Spring Lake. Years ago he owned a barber business in Spring Lake and later engaged in the trade at Grand Haven. In his earlier life he was engaged in the theatrical business, and always maintained a keen interest in the profession. He left Grand Haven for the West ten years ago.

The American Legion Auxiliary feels well satisfied with the results of the first combination card party and dance, given Wednesday evening in the Woman's Literary club rooms for the American Legion and guests. About seventy from the local Post and Auxiliary attended and four Grand Haven Legionnaires and Auxiliaries, Dr. and Mrs. Addison and Mr. and Mrs. Locke, drove over for the party.

Decorations for Washington's birthday were arranged by Miss Henrietta Althaus. A buffet lunch was served in the dining room between the card playing and the dancing. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. M. C. Lindemann and Mr. E. J. Yocmans, and at 500 by Mr. E. M. Kewitz and Mrs. E. O'Dell. Both the Auxiliary and Legion were so enthusiastic over the congeniality of this party that plans are already afoot for another under the auspices of both organizations in the near future.

Preliminary survey, looking to the rerouting of M-51 into Grandville has been completed. According to the present plans the new road will leave the old route about a mile east of the village limits and joining it again at Wilson avenue, thus eliminating the double crossing of the Pere Marquette tracks.

Considerable agitation is afoot locally to influence those in charge to connect the new with the old at Centerville avenue, which would mean a saving of nearly a half mile of road building and retention of possible factory sites adjacent to the railroad.

The Knights of Pythias held one of their popular dancing and card parties Thursday night in Woman's Literary Club rooms. In spite of the severe storm, there were about sixty couples present. Progressive five hundred was played from eight until ten o'clock. High scores were won by Mr. Otto Kramer and Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren. After the cards a buffet lunch was served and the balance of the evening was spent in dancing.

PRaises WORK OF GLEE CLUB

The Christian Intelligencer this week prints a cut of the Hope College Girls' Glee club. Among other things the Intelligencer said: "It will be a revelation to many of those who hear the young ladies at the various concerts to discover the beauty of tone and the classic value of the selections presented by the club. Few beyond those in closest touch with Hope College know of the importance of its musical department."

"On Thursday, February 19th, the Glee Club visited the Headquarters. Building at 25 East 22nd street, New York, and met the secretaries and other workers. At the usual time for the weekly prayer meeting, which was in charge of Miss Cobb, the Club was presented. Miss Cobb read Psalm 121 and prayer was offered by Mrs. John F. Bussing, President of the Women's Board of Domestic Missions. Following this the Club sang a number of selections from the repertoire. At the conclusion of the meeting the young ladies were escorted through the building and shown the various offices and were introduced to most of the workers."

"Luncheon was then served in the assembly room, and a social hour was enjoyed, together with an address by Dr. Nykerk, and two recitations by Miss Kuyper."

HOLLAND POSTAL

EMPLOYEES GET $300 MORE

lant for they are all in on the raise in pay brought about by the passing of the so-called postal bill that has passed both house and senate and was signed Saturday afternoon by President Coolidge.

Announcement at the White House that the president had signed the measure came as a surprise, as earlier indications were that he would send it to the postoffice department and the budget bureau for study before taking action on it.

The bill, which was received Saturday at the White House, provides for an average increase of about $300 annually in postal employees' salaries, effective as of Jan. 1, this year, and increased postal rates, effective April 15 next, to raise about $60,000,000 of the $68,000,000 required for the pay advances.

The bill also carries a "rider" recommended by the senate campaign fund committee strictly limiting campaign expenditures of congressional candidates.

The salary increases are similar to those carried in the measure passed at the last session, which was vetoed by President Coolidge on the ground that no provision was made to meet the increases incident to such a raise.

PERSIAN POPE IS BASEBALL FAN

Jerusalem, Feb. 24.—The "youngest pope in the world" is the title borne by Mar Ihsai Shimun, Patriarch of the Nestorian and Assyrian church, who has arrived here on his way to England and America.

This Patriarch of one of the oldest Christian sects is only sixteen years old, having succeeded his brother when the latter died in a refugee camp on the Persian frontier.

The young Patriarch is a modern boy, educated in American schools in Persia. He speaks excellent English and is a devotee of American sports. When he was called to the Patriarchate on the sudden death of his brother, he was found playing baseball and insisted on having his final turn at bat before going with the church dignitaries for his coronation.

His followers are found mainly in Persia and Russia, but they have decreased one-half during the past ten years through massacre and deportation, from which the remnant of the Assyrian nation was saved by the American Near East Relief in Persia. My people today owe their very existence to America," he says.

Four different "popes" are recognized in ecclesiastical circles here—the head of the Roman Catholic church in Rome, the Patriarch of the Greek church in Constantinople, the Armenian Patriarch in Erivan, and this last, the Nestorian Patriarch of Persia.

During the fifth century, the Nestorian church was the most powerful Christian body in the world, and monuments of its widespread missionary activity have been found in all parts of eastern Asia.

The young Patriarch will be the guest of the Archbishop of Canterbury during his stay in London.

FORMER HOPE STUDENT PUBLISHES VOLUME ON "FUNDAMENTALISM VS. MODERNISM"

In this week's issues of the spring book sections of the various weekly magazines appears an advertisement of a book by a Hope college graduate. The book is called "Fundamentalism vs. Modernism," and the author is Rev. Eldred C. Vanderlaan, who graduated from Hope College about ten years ago. It is published by the H. W. Wilson company of New York City and according to the publisher's announcement is a discussion of points of difference between the modernists and the fundamentalists. The notice does not say however which side of the controversy Mr. Vanderlaan takes. Which of course was to be expected as a publisher is interested in selling books and naturally wishes to attract readers from both camps.

Judging however from a controversy that the former Hope College man started some time ago in "The Christian Intelligencer." Reformed church weekly, it would seem likely that the new book is at least not unconditionally on the fundamentalist side. In the "Intelligencer" article Mr. Vanderlaan asked how many Reformed church ministers could sign without mental reservations the articles that all ministers must sign before they are admitted to the ministry. His query brought out a number of replies from other Reformed church ministers.

Mr. Vanderlaan's new book has been on the market for some time but it is now beginning to attract attention in the publishers' lists.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hansen of the north side has purchased Art Gunser's photo business and is located in his home on the north side, R. 4 where he will take care of Mrs. Hansen's business that may come his way. Mrs. Hansen is experienced in the business of many years and is well known in Holland.

TO RESTRICT ROAD WORK

The Allegan county road commission will be greatly handicapped by the action of the state highway department in cutting the allowance for maintenance of state highways 25 percent, over last year. There was not enough last year to properly care for state roads, and this year they cannot be given even that much attention. It was desired to round out dangerous "shoulders," but this cannot be done. As an example, where sixty hours' time was devoted to floating M18, only 15 hours can be given this year. Work was begun last week grading roads and bringing them back to normal condition after the winter's damage. It has been found that the roads on which the rotary snowplow was used are in the best condition, due to the removal of snow from the roadway instead of piling it up on the sides.—Allegan Gazette.

RAVENA GIVES LIE TO EPIDEMIC STORY

Ravenna citizens are apparently unconvinced that there has been any smallpox in the village, despite the statements made by Dr. George Ramsey, of the state board of health, to the contrary. The state board of health agrees that all danger is now over in Ravenna, but it maintains that there have been three cases and two deaths from small pox.

"Prompt precautionary measures have eliminated all danger there now," says Dr. Ramsey.

But Ravenna maintains there has been no smallpox, and that the village has been unjustly injured.

F. E. Thatcher, Ravenna merchant today issued the following statement: "Please state that there is no smallpox in Ravenna. There has been none."

"Duffy died from diabetes, January 29. More than ten people visited him during his illness and as many more attended the funeral at the house and yet no one of them has shown any symptoms of small pox. Benton had hemorrhage of the kidneys and died from that. The big headline scares have ruined business here for twenty days."

THREE ALLEGAN PIONEERS DIE ON LAST SATURDAY

Saturday Allegan was visited by the grim reaper when three old pioneers were taken away. The first was Stephen Odell, aged 94 years. He was a Civil war veteran.

The second was Mrs. Samuel Murphy, aged 88, pioneer resident. She was the widow of Capt. S. F. Murphy who was a member of the 4th Michigan cavalry and assisted in the capture of Jefferson Davis. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Charles Kellogg, Allegan, and Mrs. May Hutzler, California.

The third was John M. Brown, aged 71, who died at Grand Rapids Saturday and the body was taken to Allegan Sunday, the funeral was held at Allegan Monday afternoon.

HEAVY ICE AGAIN BLOCKS LAKE HARBOR CHANNELS

For the second time within a week lake traffic on the Michigan shore is tied up by heavy ice which blocks the harbor channels and makes entrance or exit impossible.

The steamer Missouri of the Goodrich Transit Co. has been inside the harbor since Sunday morning waiting for a shifting wind to clear the channel. The steamer Alabama was out in the lake trying to make an entrance at Muskegon harbor.

Several inches of snow covered western Michigan Monday morning but the storm belt extended only about 20 miles inland, according to railroad men.

NEW PHONE BOOK WAS IS- SUED MONDAY

For the last year or more, since the Citizens Telephone company was merged with the Bell Telephone company, there has been considerable "kick" in Holland over the kind of directory that the Bell company has been getting out and this dissatisfaction has been especially evident among the merchants; at almost every meeting some member of the association would voice a protest.

The claim was that the figures were altogether too small as were the names. The names ran in two columns instead of one as in earlier directories and many other defects were pointed out. Merchants had simply been spoiled by the old directories, gotten out by the late Mr. Orr, which were models for convenience, containing large black figures with names nearly as prominent. The merchants wanted the old kind of directory back, but the officials of the Bell company explained that this was impossible since the directories in the entire state were standardized along the lines of directories in the larger cities and that the contract for the printing of these directories was given to one office over a period of time. The company contended further that if each town had its own kind of directory, there would be no end to the expense.

This didn't satisfy the merchants however, when along came O. L. Blodgett, the man who nearly a year ago brought out the best city directory Holland has ever had. He promised to get out a telephone directory, providing the merchants would pay him for his trouble with advertising. The directory was to be along the line of one formerly gotten out by Holland printers. Today the new directory put in its appearance. The figures and names are every bit as large as in the old directory. It is up to date in every particular. Not alone that, but it also contains a classified business directory separate from the regular directory with the different classes of business listed under their respective heads. It also contains a numerical list in plain wording, an unusually convenient adjunct to a telephone directory.

The numerical list always gives the subscriber a key to the name of a person who called during his absence by running down the columns of numbers that follow in the numerical list.

In the back of the Holland directory a similar directory is found of Zeeland, also having its classified business directory and numerical list.

The independent telephone lines of Borculo, Drenthe and other places serving part of the Holland and Zeeland rurals, besides Hudsonville and Hamilton, are also found next to the Zeeland directory, an added convenience which even the old directories did not contain.

The ever convenient list of fire alarm boxes, omitted from the new Bell directories for the past year, again appears in the new directory. This has always been an important page in the old directories and the compilers of the directory did not lose sight of that fact. This same page also contains information relative to police protection through the signal light system both day or night, also a very convenient addition. The new directory is complete in every detail and again indicates that Mr. Blodgett knows how to get out this class of work.

The directories were being distributed among the business men Monday morning, and some time next week 3100 will be mailed to Holland, Zeeland, and rural subscribers. There is only one objection to this new directory. Either Mr. Blodgett or some one else must keep it up, or subscribers will be worse off than before. The Holland subscribers have almost become accustomed to the Bell directory when the directory with larger figures again appears, and naturally the less convenient directory will be discarded. If this sort of directory appears for only once, subscribers will have to go through the same agony all over again in a year from now.

Mr. Blodgett states however that he will be here again next December to get out a second directory, and will continue to do this from year to year as long as the advertising support is forthcoming.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Lokker, a girl, Phyllis Jean.

Jimmy Poppen, star pitcher for Hope college, will leave Monday for Florida for training for the Baltimore team in the international league. Poppen recently signed a contract with the Baltimore club at a good salary. He expects to return to Hope next fall and finish his course during 1924.

Twenty-four Grand Haven, Spring Lake, Ferrysburg and Nunica young men took examinations at the Grand Haven post office Thursday morning for the positions of clerk and carrier in the United States postal system. Many young men from the Grand Haven high school took the examination.

Glen Ogden of Grand Rapids was arrested by Officer Bontekow who found him drunk. Ogden is said to be a driver for the Grand Rapids Yellow Cab company and when found he was comfortably sleeping in one of the cabs that he had driven to this city. He pleaded guilty before justice Den Herder who fined the man $23.50.

The coast guard station at Holland harbor was opened Saturday with Capt. S. J. Toft in command. The members of the crew will be Andrew Fisher, Herbert Van Oort, James Fitzgerald, Marion Butties, Kenneth Robinson, Ralph Emmert, Clark Loyler and Walter Cafey. VanOort is the oldest member of the crew, having completed 16 years in the service. Capt. Toft will begin his second season at Holland harbor.

The Republicans of Holland township are to hold their regular spring caucus on Saturday, March 14, at 2 o'clock at the townhouse on the Zeeland-Holland road. At that time all township officers are to be nominated.

The first case to be started in Allegan county circuit court is that of the State Food Inspector's Department vs. Weeny and Hills, vinegar makers of Allegan county. The men are charged with having adulterated vinegar.

Mrs. Albert De Young, aged 66 died at her home, 62 East 15th St., after a lingering illness. She survived by her husband, one son Peter, one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Butler. The funeral was held Tuesday-afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home.

Peter Kyad was arrested in Spring Lake Thursday afternoon on a charge of drunkenness by Deputy Edward Ryenga. The report came in from the interurban station at Spring Lake and the call was answered. Kyad pleaded guilty before Justice Lillie and could not pay the fine of $5 and costs so he was scheduled to take hotel accommodations at the county jail for the next seven days.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ten Cate, at Holland hospital, a boy, Harold Alvin.

The Reformed church of Hingham, Wis., has extended a call to Rev. Henry Mollema of Spring Lake.

The Seventh Reformed church of Holland has extended a call to Rev. P. Van Eerden of Muskegon.

Rev. M. J. Duven of Vriesland has declined the call extended to him by the Carmel, Iowa, Reformed church. Jacob Lokker of the Lokker-Rutgers company is in Detroit to attend a clothiers convention.

Fred Woodruff writes from Rochester, Minn., stating that he is receiving treatment for his leg in St. Mary's hospital.

The Parents-Teachers club at Pine Creek school has postponed its meeting from Friday evening, March 6th to March 13th.

Seven were boarded at the county jail hotel Sunday night. The bad weather is always the signal for an influx of callers, according to Sheriff Fred Kamferbeek and most of them registered for the night.

Sheriff Covell of Muskegon county was in Gr. Haven Sunday afternoon to make an arrest of a former Muskegon resident and charged with larceny. The man resided on Fulton-st. and went under the name of Bennett. Deputy Sheriff Forrest Salisbury returned to his work at the county jail after an absence of more than a week, following injuries received in removing one of the demented prisoners at the jail.

The ban on public meetings has been lifted at Conklin, Ottawa county, and the high school was opened Monday after being closed two weeks because of a smallpox epidemic in that section. There was only one case in Conklin and that one is reported as recovered.

Mrs. G. Van Lopik an old Ottawa county pioneer now living at Grand Haven, is seriously ill at her home. Mrs. Van Lopik came to this country in 1849 and settled with the Van Raalte colony, later moving to Grand Haven. Mrs. Van Lopik is 84 years old.

The pupils of the sixth grade of the Longfellow school and the teachers, Miss Anna Dehn and Miss Dora Strowenjas, were entertained this noon at the home of Russell Dyke, 64 East 22nd street, where they listened to the Coolidge speech over the radio. The program was very clear.

Coach Schouten's baseball players are working out every day in Carnegie gym. A large squad is out but outside of a few veterans, little can be said about the prospects for the team. Van Lente will captain the squad. Other veterans are Ottipoby, Riemersma, Albers, and Buikema.

STORES TO BE CLOSED NEXT WEEK WEDNESDAY

What before the meeting promised to be quite a matter of discussion failed to arouse controversy after John Van Tatenhove, vice president of the Merchants association, had called the members to order at the city hall Tuesday evening.

John Maas, representing a committee having in charge the observance of prayer day on Wednesday, March 11, a custom that has been in vogue among the Hollanders in this city, Zeeland and elsewhere, asked for a few moments in which to speak, and he told the merchants gathered the reasons for prayer day and requested that stores of Holland be closed on that day.

Before the meeting several groups contended that if prayer day was truly observed by business men, clerks and others as well, it would be fitting to set aside the day as a prayer day for crops. The day should then be observed by entire city, manufacturers as well as business men. Some contended that instead of attending services, many used the day as a holiday and that the interurban cars to Grand Rapids are well filled on that day.

It appears however that this was only a preliminary discussion before the meeting, for when Mr. Van Tatenhove put the question no one argued the point and when a rising vote was taken a large majority favored closing; some remained neutral, while a half dozen voted not to close.

A motion to make the vote unanimous, however, was then passed and all members agreed to close up their places of business during the entire day next week Wednesday.

M. O. L. CONTEST TO BE HELD FRIDAY AT KAZOO

The M. O. L. contest will be held Friday afternoon and evening at Kalamazoo. The orators will speak in the First Baptist church, located on the corner of Main and Church Sts. Miss M. Van Vessum and Mr. G. Wessink, Hope's representatives, will be somewhat handicapped by being the last speakers on the programs, but they both have splendid orations and should win high honors.

Miss Van Vessum delivered her oration Monday morning before the student body at Chapel exercises and Mr. Wessink spoke Tuesday morning. Dr. J. B. Nykerk, who has trained successfully many orators for Hope, is well satisfied with their prospects for winning. Hope has always taken a very high place in these contests and the Orange and Blue representatives are feared by every college in the state. If either of the orators takes a first place, a "glory day" will be observed Monday and citizens of Holland know what that means as many "glory days" have been celebrated here.

A special car has been chartered and a large crowd of students will accompany the speakers and do all in their power to help bring victory to Hope.

HOPE JUNIOR CLASS PLANS PAGEANT FOR 1926

At a meeting held recently the Junior class of Hope College decided to present a pageant in 1926 in commemoration of the sixtieth anniversary of Hope College, and the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. The pageant is to be given instead of the usual class play each year.

Frederick Orlert of Holland was elected to be director of the pageant. Gerald Pool of Midland Park, N. J., was made chief of a board of authors. Paul Gebhard of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was chosen as business manager and Cornelius Hoppers of Chicago, property manager.

Plans for the composing of the pageant will begin soon so that it may be finished by the end of this school year. The class of 1916 was the first class to do anything of this nature. It will be remembered by Holland citizens that the pageant presented by the graduates of 1916 was called "The Pageant of Hope," and was a great success in every way.

The class of 1926 intends to compose and present a new pageant.

AID SOCIETY HELPS HOLLAND "MOVIE STRUCK" GIRL

The Grand Rapids Press of Tuesday gives the experience of a young Holland movie crazed girl who was about to depart for Hollywood when she was intercepted at the Union Station at Grand Rapids. The article says: "She wanted to go into the movies. She wasn't satisfied at home and so with about $20 in her purse and a railroad ticket to Chicago she started for Chicago."

"Not being advised on the ways of travel she drew attention at the Union station. Her conversation at the ticket window was accidentally but fortunately overheard by one of the Travelers Aid society workers."

"Seeing the lack of experience of the girl the Travelers Aid secretary made inquiry only to find her father lived in Holland, her mother was dead and the home life was not particularly happy."

"The aid society, one of the participating agencies in the Welfare Union, helped this young girl to see that it was probably best to wait a few years before seeking her fortune in the land of the silver screen."

"Such a service is one of the many performed by this organization in Grand Rapids. Formerly this phase of social work was performed by the Deaconess home and the Young Women's Christian Association. This year for the first time the Travelers Aid becomes a member of the Welfare Union."

"Last year, according to the annual report of this organization's work in the city, 7,384 individuals were given assistance at the Union Station."

Miss Belle Koning is spending the week-end as the guest of her mother, W. Eleventh street.

WEST OLIVE COUPLE CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Barend Kammeraad, long time residents of West Olive and known for miles around that village, celebrated their golden wedding at their farm home in that township Monday.

Fifty years of married life have blessed Mr. and Mrs. Kammeraad with thirteen children of whom eleven are living and all were able to attend this long looked for day.

For a number of years Mr. Kammeraad was the drain commissioner and his acquaintances and friends showered the couple with letters and telegrams of congratulations. The family gathered at the old home for a family dinner and reunion and brought the honored guest a purse of one hundred dollars.

Besides the immediate children there are thirty-nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren but circumstances prevented them from all attending, so that next summer a complete family reunion is planned when they may all be fortunate enough to be there.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kammeraad and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kammeraad of Holland, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mueller and Arthur Kammeraad of Grand Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kammeraad of Grand Rapids, Leonard Kammeraad, Miss Bernice Kammeraad of Lowell, Luther Lamb of Allendale, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rooks, Muskegon, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boomgaard, Mr. and Mrs. John Overbeek and Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Doesburg of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rock.

HOPE Y. M. C. A. CHOOSES OFFICERS FOR NEW YEAR

The Hope college Y. M. C. A., one of the most influential organizations on the local campus, held election last night and chose officers for the new year which begins after spring vacation. Theodore Essenberg of Muskegon will be the next president, replacing Fred Yonkman, retiring leader. Mr. Essenberg is a Junior and has served for two years on the cabinet. He is well qualified for the position. Delbert Kinney of Kalamazoo was elected Junior president. Kenney is also a Junior and has served on the Y cabinet. Roy Natross of Spencer, Iowa, was chosen to act as secretary of the organization, while H. Kik of Grand Rapids will be the new treasurer. All of the officers have been leaders in Y work and a very successful year is anticipated under their direction. The Y. M. C. A. holds a big place in campus activities and the last year has been a highly profitable one. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. take charge of the annual prayer week at the college and it was under their direction that Rev. Mr. Gordon was secured to speak before large audiences here last fall. About 125 men are enrolled at present in the Y.

BANDITS ADMIT ENTERING A ZEELAND STORE

A curious crowd of about 200 youths and men, and a few women, milled about the gates at the Union station Grand Rapids Tuesday night to view the departure of Kenneth Martin, 19, Howard Baker, 18, and Emory Driscoll, 17, murderers of Frank E. Kugler, for the state prison at Marquette where they arrived late Wednesday and will begin serving life imprisonment for their crime.

A greater part of the crowd was disappointed when Sheriff William L. Smith ordered the prisoners escorted into the station sheds from the Western St. entrance so that no difficulty might be experienced in getting the trio to the waiting north-bound Pennsylvania train. Realizing what had taken place when the sheriff and a friend walked alone through the station, the crowd swarmed to the train, and station attendants ordered the throng back to the gates.

The young bandits, who will be enrolled as "lifers" in Michigan's most isolated penitentiary, were locked into a stateroom on the rear coach of the train and did not again look out upon the crowd outside. In charge of the prisoners were Deputy Sheriff John West and Detective Thomas Blinston, to whom the three were shackled. Supt. A. A. Carroll chose the detective that he might carry to the prison photographs of the Millburg bank bandits in an attempt to establish whether two of the Millburg bandits were members of the gang that figured in the Brandema-Slater murder in 1921.

Detective Blinston will show the photographs to Leo Bolger, sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the crime, to determine whether Bolger recognizes them as his former pals. Witnesses of the bank robbery which preceded the murders were not all certain whether the Millburg bandits were those seen at G. R. and prompted the police chief to send an officer to see Bolger, recently transferred from Jackson.

The youthful murderers of Frank E. Kugler, 66, shot down in his store in North Park in a holdup on the night of Feb. 21, maintained their optimistic composure when they were taken from the jail last night and when they chatted with relatives for the last time Tuesday afternoon. Mothers of two of the boys and other relatives called on the three during the afternoon. The visit was their last. Sheriff Smith advising them no visitors would be allowed at night.

Before their removal from the jail Tuesday night, the trio admitted other crimes committed during February. Burglaries added to their already long list of robberies took place at a drug store and a grocery store on Grandville ave., S. W., a grocery on Benjamin ave., S. E., and a general merchandise store on Tamarack ave., near Fourth st., N. W. Crimes committed outside the city were burglaries at Rilling station in Rockford, at a pool room at Zeeland, and theft of gasoline from a tank of Comstock Park.

John J. Smolenski, attorney, who had offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the thieves who drove away with his car last month and wrecked it near Zeeland handed a check for that amount to Supt. A. A. Carroll Tuesday to add to the reward offered for the capture of the trio.

PIONEER RECALLS

OLD SNOWSTORMS

The leonine arrival of March brought many vivid recollections of other winters to the mind of George Messer, of Muskegon Heights, a pioneer resident of that section of the country.

Mr. Messer recalled the day—April 12, 1868, when he drove a team of horses and a sleigh load of rye across Mona Lake to a grist mill on the north shore of Muskegon Lake. He said that it used to be a common sight to see sleighs going to the mills on election day, the first Monday in April.

The pioneer's remarks were made in a discussion regarding the severity of the winters of two and three decades ago as compared with the winters of late years.

Mr. Messer purchased land on the shores of Little Black Lake in 1866 and for a number of years resided there. He claims to be the first man to cut a road from the lake to what is now state trunk line M-11.

FORD HAS INTERESTING COLLECTION AT DEARBORN

Of the many collections of other days throughout the United States, perhaps none is more unusual and as promising for the future as Ford's splendid accumulation of colonial and later day means of transportation now in his storehouse, but soon to be displayed in a fire-proof museum to be erected at Dearborn. The replica of Holmes' "One Hoss Shay," Dickens' English May Coach, the true covered wagon of pioneer days, the victoria, the Civil War sociable (a type that was used by Lincoln when president) and most modern of all, the first Ford—are all brought together in one building.

Besides this Dearborn collection, Mr. Ford has purchased the famous "Wayside Inn" of Longfellow's time, also John Burroughs' old home in the Catskills, and in each has assembled as many of the original possessions as possible.

A further and much more extensive account of Ford's Museum will be found in the "Michigan History Magazine" for January. There are a number of illustrations with the article which will be followed by others in the coming issues of that magazine.

INDIAN MISSION WORKER TO SPEAK

Mr. J. Brink, a well known mission worker, will give a stereoscopic lecture on Indian Missions at the Prospect Park church Thursday at 7:30 P. M. As an added feature, a few Navaho songs will be sung. Several Indian articles will be on display at the rear of the church auditorium. A silver collection will be taken. All are welcome.

IS PLEASANT FOR THE TAX COLLECTOR

The internal revenue collector's job is less trying this year than in other years since the income tax law went into effect. This is due largely to the fact that many income tax payers go to the Federal building prepared to pay a larger amount than they are required to pay. Earned incomes to $4,000 are paying one and one-half per cent this year, compared to four per cent last year. A few complaints are being made, but for the most part taxpayers are greatly surprised.

CARELESSNESS CAUSE OF BIG DEATH TOLL

Before a large gathering of merchants and other citizens, Major R. C. Havens of the G. R. Safety Council spoke Tuesday night on "Safety, First, Last and All the Time." The figures he gave show that the number of auto deaths in the United States is appalling.

During the 19 months of war Uncle Sam lost 50,000 in the fight with Germany, while in the same 19 months the United States lost 90,000 killed by accident on this side of the water where all was peace. Of this number 22,600 were deaths on highways.

This death record brought about an organization called the National Safety Council, with headquarters at Milwaukee. It is a non-profit seeking organization; it is not limited to color, creed, or race, but all are arrayed against the common foe, carelessness. Mr. Havens stated that many Holland manufacturers are members of this organization and his coming here was for the purpose of getting the public more generally interested in safety problems through the avenues of the schools, police forces, common councils, civic clubs, etc. Work is especially done in the schools and even mathematical problems and geography are sandwiched with a smattering of "safety first."

Mr. Havens gave for illustration that in the Grand Rapids schools a child who formerly was asked how much two apples and three apples made, is now asked the question, "If two school children were killed by an automobile this month and three last month, how many children were killed?" He contended that it immediately puts in the child's mind the idea of how to prevent these child tragedies.

In Grand Rapids a traffic squad of 75 has been organized, the best citizens of Grand Rapids being enlisted into service without pay. No one knows who these men are, they are not in uniform, but nevertheless they are continually helping the police correct violations. They are the highest class of men, and not on the force because they've got an axe to grind or to get somebody but in a nice gentlemanly way they point out to offenders of the traffic law that they are making a mistake.

To demonstrate how this traffic squad works in Grand Rapids, last year 4,665 offenders were visited by these men and were told to do better, and of that number only fifty were arrested. The traffic squad has weekly meetings at the A. of C. rooms where their problems are brought up and discussed.

A Safety First Truck Drivers association has also been organized, starting off with 400 members. It now has 850 members and the trucks of the members have a conspicuous white cross on a red background attached to the radiators of their machines. Roughneck drivers are eliminated as soon as possible and since this organization has been perfected accidents by trucks have been few.

Mr. Havens is now perfecting organizations all over Michigan, and where it is difficult to get to all the cities, he is having representatives from different cities gather in one city. Holland representatives met in Zeeland Monday, and Grand Haven and Muskegon are to meet together when these safety councils are to be perfected.

Some time ago Holland joined the National Public Safety Council and pays a $400 a year membership fee. Police Commissioner Gerard Cook stated that safety first propaganda had already been going around in the schools and is having the desired effect, namely that children stop look and listen before crossing a street intersection. Mr. Havens praised the newspapers for their support.

Merrick Hanchett, who recently visited in Des Moines, Iowa, gave an excellent description as to how safety measures were applied the schools in that city.

WELCOME PASTOR WITH A PARTY

On the eve of the 2nd of March the consistency of the 4th Ref. Church, with their wives, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Buurma, the object to welcome their pastor, Rev. J. F. Heemstra, and his family, who after a well deserved vacation, had returned to Holland. The evening was spent in a spirit of joy and gratitude. After reminiscences, dainty refreshments were served, followed by some fitting remarks by Mr. Heenevelt representing the consistency. Rev. Heemstra responded, expressing his and his family's joy in again being with the congregation. Before parting the senior member of the consistency, Mr. G. Blom, made a few remarks, suggested singing Ps. 68:10, after which Mr. Blom dismissed the gathering with prayer. The guests, thanked Mr. and Mrs. Buurma for their congenial hospitality.

ANOTHER BIG FIRE IN GRAND HAVEN TUESDAY

The two-story warehouse near the Goodrich Transit company docks, owned by Nathaniel Robbins, burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon in Grand Haven. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

The warehouse contained 20 used automobiles belonging to Adrian Koolman, Buick dealer. The automobiles were understood to have been insured. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

The warehouse was the oldest building in the city, having been constructed in 1840.

Saturday night a large fire occurred in Grand Haven when the garage of Henry Neitering burned with a loss of $40,000.

BRINKMAN, CHIROPRACTOR, AND TWO OTHERS CONVICTED

The trial of Harold Malcolm of Otsego, on the charge of practicing as a chiropractor without a state license was the first case called Tuesday and tried before Judge Cross in the Allegan county circuit court, and a jury. The case went to the jury at 2:20 and a verdict of guilty returned in less than 20 minutes. The case against C. J. Brouwer of Allegan, one of the other two chiropractors to be tried for practicing without a state license, was begun at once. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. H. J. Brinkman of Allegan, the third, pleaded guilty.

LARGE WELL KNOWN MUSKEGON PLANT TO MOVE

The Walker Candy Co. of Muskegon will transfer its manufacturing activities to Owosso within the next two or three months. The company's new plant at Owosso is nearly completed. It cost $200,000.

"LIGHT AND PROGRESS" IS PAPER'S THEME

Greater improvement has been made in artificial lighting in the past 50 years than in all the thousands of years in the world's history before that time. That fact was brought out in an interesting paper on "Light and Progress," read Tuesday evening by R. B. Champion before the Social Progress club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winter.

For the convenience of the members Mr. Champion had arranged on the mantel shelf types of lamps used since the earliest days, beginning several thousand years before Christ and going down through the centuries up to the present time with its Mazda electric lamps. The first was a mere dish cut out of stone in which grease was burned. The next development was a lamp made of pottery, then one of bronze, and so on. The electric lamp did not come until 1879, and that too has developed in that brief time from a 1.6 per cent efficiency to 20 per cent efficiency. The entire display is now in the window of the DeFouw Electric shop.

Mr. Champion drew a word picture of what he supposed to have been the beginning of the lamp development, imagining that the lamp was first discovered by accident when primitive man was roasting meat and some grease fell into a clay hollow forming a little pool which accidentally took fire. The idea once formed, the development of the lamp was almost inevitable.

The speaker devoted much attention to electrical development, and the part it has played and is playing in the progress of the world and he gave many interesting statistics about how the efficiency of electric light has increased, how the cost has consistently decreased as new inventions his assistants.

Later, in the evening he showed motion pictures of Nela Park, Cleveland, a sort of university of experiments in electric development, and also pictures of the manufacture of Mazda lamps.

NAMED HEAD OF WOMAN'S LITERARY CLUB

At the annual election of officers of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Joseph Rhea was elected president to succeed Mrs. G. Diekema. Mrs. R. McLean was elected first vice president and Mrs. J. C. Post, second vice president. Mrs. E. C. Brooks was elected recording secretary and Mrs. John Boone was re-elected corresponding secretary. The treasurer, Mrs. Arnold Mulder, was also re-elected and the three board directors chosen were Mrs. G. J. Diekema, Mrs. Jas. Weyer and Mrs. George Pelgrim.

Additional interest was given the meeting by glimpses of the republican convention at Detroit, given by the president, Mrs. G. J. Diekema, while ballots were being counted. Her remarks, informal and spontaneous, showed the influence and power for good woman's participation in politics can be.

Announcement was again made of the fact that next week's woman's club meeting is in the evening and is held jointly with the Holland Teachers' club, in the high school auditorium. The subject of the meeting is "Washington: Our National Shrine," presented in a unique and artistic manner by Mr. Charles C. Long of Washington, D. C.

ALABAMA STRUGGLES IN ICE OFF GRAND HAVEN

Boat and rail traffic was hampered by the storm, trains having been late Monday and lake steamers for the most part having hugged their docks. The Alabama of the Goodrich line was the only exception, she having become fast in the ice at the head of the Grand Haven pier while trying to smash her way through Sunday night. She is in no danger.

The Crosby steamer, Georgia, is tied up at Muskegon, while the Peninsula, a Northern steamer, United States, and a Grand Trunk ferry are lying at Grand Haven. The other Grand Trunk ferry is at Milwaukee. A field of slush ice extends out into Lake Michigan several miles.

TO PROTECT FARMER AGAINST HUNTER

In an effort to protect farmers from the marauding tendencies of hunters, Senator Norman B. Horton of Fruitridge has introduced a bill providing that "No person shall hunt in any manner on improved lands used and occupied by another without the consent of the owner or person in possession thereof."

The restoration of state bounties on wolves is proposed by Rep. David F. Morrison of Germantown. The bounty would set at $10 for each wolf over six months of age and $3 for each wolf whelp.

HAMILTON

A dinner party was given at the Rigerink home, the occasion being the 52nd birthday of Mr. Rigerink. As usual, Mrs. Rigerink had prepared a dainty and appetizing menu, which included a birthday cake aglow with 52 candles. After the dinner the guests present devoted themselves to conversation, games, contests and story telling. Those present besides the Rigerinks were Mr. Arthur Kaechele, Mrs. Carrie Van Buren, Misses Mary Weaver and Janet Tans, and Gertrude Voorhorst, and Messrs. Albertus Helenthal, and O. S. Flanagan.

The bottom having dropped out of the roads in many places, the automobiles have been wallowing through deep mud instead of deep snow this week," says a Hamilton correspondent.

The local Oddfellows have been repapering and making other improvements that add to the appearance of their hall.

John Japink is soliciting support for nomination for township clerk. Mr. Japink held the office twenty-one years ago and so has some knowledge of the requirements of the office.

Mr. George Schevink left for Kansas City having been called there by the illness of his son Justin, who is ill with pneumonia. Justin Schevink left for Kansas city a few weeks ago to take a course in an automobile school.

John Karsen, until recently proprietor of the hotel, will move his family to Saugatuck soon where he has secured employment.

COOLIDGE AND DAWES TAKE OATHS OF OFFICE

CALVIN COOLIDGE, CHAS. G. DAWES

Maning in Holland listened in Wednesday while C. Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes took the oath of office for president and vice president of the United States. The oath of office was administered to Mr. Coolidge by Chief Justice Taft, the first time that a former president administered the oath to a new chief executive.

The ceremony of inauguration, exemplifying the simple tastes of both men and the frugal policy they have pledged themselves to pursue in the conduct of the nation's affairs, carried on at the president's direction on the simplest scale in a century.

Beginning about 11 o'clock with the sixty-eight congress entering its last hour and continuing for almost four hours, the inaugural program excluded all extravagant pomp and costly display, but lacked none of the quiet dignity manifesting the ideals of a mighty republic and the responsibilities of the world's most powerful civil office.

JUDGESHIP IS TO BE SETTLED BY PRESIDENT

JUDGE ORIEN S. CROSS OF OTTAWA-ALLEGAN CIRCUIT HAS STRONG BACKING

A Washington story to Michigan papers brings some interesting sidelights on the campaign for the appointment of a judge for the U. S. District court of Western Michigan. Says the correspondent:

Withdrawal of Congressman C. E. Mages as a candidate for the U. S. District Judgeship made possible by the prospective retirement of Clarence W. Sessions leaves the matter in a very unsettled state.

Senator James Couzens is following his custom of refusing to have anything to do with patronage matters unless asked by the president or advice. That makes it almost certain the president will delay the appointment until Charles B. Warren is confirmed as attorney general and then seek his advice in choosing among the multitude of candidates.

The first candidate to have his recommendations presented by a personal representative was Kirk E. Wicks of Grand Rapids. His backing comes wholly of Grand Rapids. Attorney Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids came to Washington and filed a petition signed by 81 members of the Grand Rapids bar asking the appointment of Wicks. This was filed at the attorney general's office and Mr. Steketee also saw Edward J. Clark, secretary to President Coolidge, and members of the Michigan delegation.

Other candidates, however, have as strong or stronger backing than from a part of the Grand Rapids bar and so far as known he has no political backing. Perhaps political backing should not count in these matters, but it usually does. Circuit Judge W. B. Brown and Superior Court Judge Leonard D. Verder both have backing among the bar and political.

Friends of Judge Orien S. Cross of Allegan are very active in his behalf. Former Congressman Gerrit J. Diekema of Holland is coming to Washington to present Cross's name. Cross has the backing of bar associations of Muskegon, Allegan and Ottawa counties. He also is said to have endorsements from 17 circuit judges in the state. Cross's friends are saying that Grand Rapids should not have the Judgeship appointment this time because invariably it has had it in past years in addition to other valuable federal patronage.

Sherman Handy of Sault Ste. Marie, a member of the Michigan utilities commission, has good backing in the northern part of the state and has endorsements from a majority of the Michigan supreme court.

Attorney General Andrew B. Dougherty has many friends who would like to see him appointed to the place and is considered well qualified, but he is past the age limit of 60 years and unless this is waived he cannot be named.

Fred Wetmore of Cadillac, former district attorney, still is mentioned as a possibility but his strength has not yet made itself apparent in Washington.

If President Coolidge does not make an appointment before the end of the regular session Wednesday or in the short special session of the senate following he will be compelled to make a recess appointment and the appointee will have to serve without pay until confirmation at the regular session next December. If confirmed he would get back pay.

DOLLAR ON YAP ISLAND WEIGHS 500 POUNDS

Folks down Yap Island way never throw away their money. The reason is because it would break a hammer thrower's back even to lift a dime.

A Yap dollar the biggest and most worthless coin in the world, is now on exhibition in Tokio. It is a neat little coin, five feet three inches wide in one direction, four feet three in another and about six inches thick.

It is chiseled out of limestone and has a hole in the center. It would make good as a grindstone on any Iowa farm. It weighs about 500 lbs.

When a Yap—or whatever a resident of Yap Island is called—wants to spend a dollar he gets a few of his friends to help him, runs a pole thru the center of this stone "buck" and rolls away with his good money.

MAY ORGANIZE NEW BUS LINE REPORT SAYS

Mayor Kammeraad received from the Michigan Public Utilities commission information stating that petitions had been filed some time ago with the commission by parties asking for privilege of operating bus lines between Holland and Grand Rapids.

Mayor Kammeraad stated that representatives were also here but he gave them no encouragement stating that he felt that no unnecessary competition should be thrown in the way of the Holland Interurban, which line already had hard sledding, and this city and the resorts could ill afford to lose the street car line, in fact Holland would be in a very bad way without this public service company, besides the city had been very well served for many years by the interurban.

Mayor Jacob Elenbaas who had not yet received a communication from the Utilities Commission at Lansing, voiced the same sentiment in a communication over the phone. He stated he did not see a crying need for a bus line, that the interurban had been a great convenience for many years to Zeeland and Zeeland could not afford to lose the street car line, and depend on a bus system only.

Both Mayor Kammeraad of Holland and Mayor Elenbaas of Zeeland are giving this proposition much earnest thought. They state that interurban transportation means much to Holland, Zeeland, and the resorts and if for any reason operations would discontinue, it would be a serious matter to this district.

HOEKSEMA CASE GOES TO JUDGE DUNHAM

On its way to the supreme court, where both parties to the suit declare they will carry it in event of an adverse decision in circuit court, the dispute between Rev. Herman Hoeksema and his following. The judge did not indicate when his decision in the case, which is to determine ownership of the church property, might be expected.

Questions from the court punctuated the closing appeal of Atty. Door Kuizema who closed for the plaintiffs, following Atty. Harris E. Galpin's argument for Rev. Hoeksema and his consistory.

Atty. Kuizema reiterated the position of the plaintiffs that Rev. Hoeksema has lost his right to appeal to the synod by his rebellion from the decree of suspension and deposition placed on him by classis Grand Rapids East. In answer to the court's inquiries, Atty. Kuizema explained that the loss of right to appeal was based on equities implied in Article 53 of the church order rather than on the definite church order prescribing loss of the right of appeal in case of rebellion.

Atty. Kuizema based his principal argument on the contention that synod's interpretation of the three points is a part of the consistory and binding upon Rev. Hoeksema. The court commented that he could not reconcile synod's declaration that Rev. Hoeksema was "fundamentally Reformed or correct" with the recognition of three points of doctrine in which he had not conformed.

"Rev. Hoeksema is a Calvinist, not a hyper-Calvinist as Dr. Keets has said," declared Atty. Galpin, in a fighting answer to the description of Rev. Hoeksema as a medievalist and potential inquisitor with which Atty. Jay W. Linsey closed his argument for the plaintiffs. "I am not a Calvinist," said Atty. Galpin, "but I think I know something of Calvinism from this case and others. Rev. Hoeksema is a Calvinist; the other men in this case are white washed Calvinists trying to get away from the age old doctrine of the Reformed church."

Rev. Hoeksema's prowess as a skater and swimmer was urged by his counsel in refutation of the characterization of him as a joyless medievalist. It was also pointed out by friends that he even enjoys a good cigar or pipe.

"The Eastern Avenue church to you or me," said Atty. Galpin in closing, "may be only a pile of bricks and mortar. To the men and women who have worshiped in it year after year and loyally supported it the very building is of value impossible for me to express."

Both sides after the hearing, expressed an unshaken determination to carry the case to Supreme court if Judge Dunham's decision is adverse.

When the case was adjourned Rev. Hoeksema appeared to be a very dejected man and was visibly downcast. He said upon leaving the court room, "Had I known I was to be abused in such fashion, I would not have come this afternoon. The language Atty. Linsey used was the language of Atty. Linsey. His statements were slims. He has no conception of the principle involved."

Mr. Hoeksema was very much agitated because of the scoring given him by Atty. Linsey and seemed especially grieved at the close. Mr. Linsey, who represents the other side of the question, commented as follows: "Whenever a Christian teacher exalts himself and adopts the self important exalted tone and air he sins against the word and will of God. The causes which have conspired to exalt the priesthood in Christ's church, not the least potent has been the love of mastery in the priests themselves. It is true this exaggerated conception of the place and function of the Christian ministry has operated more than any other cause to alienate men's minds from the faith of Christ."

"The evil done by masterful ministers lives after them, while in their own souls they forfeit the meekness and gentleness and humility, without which they have no proper place or attitude before God. The masterful tempter, when it is indulged unchecked, breeds ruinous results. Humility crushes out all that humbleness means. The sin of Mr. Hoeksema and his consistory reaches its spiritual climax in Milton's Archangel, who refused to serve in heaven that he might reign in hell."

CANNOT PARK WITHOUT LIGHTS IN ZEELAND TOWN IN FUTURE

Marshal Wm. Hietje has given until midnight Saturday evening for all auto owners to get their 1925 auto licenses. He at the same time serves notice that Zeeland drivers can't park their cars in the future without tail lights lighted. Mr. Hietje also places the ban on motorists driving without headlights going after dark or those having one of the lights out of commission. He states that running with but one headlight is dangerous and the fact that one instead of two are burning when necessary indicates that the driver has been neglecting his machine, for headlight repairs can be speedily made and a burned out gilm can be replaced in a minute or two.

BOY SCOUT RALLY TO BE HELD MARCH 10

The boy scout rally that was announced for this evening in the local churches last Sunday has been postponed until the evening of March tenth. Instead of the rally a regular boy scout meeting will be held to-night.

When the rally is held two weeks hence there will be a specially good program that will interest everybody. One of the features will be a fire lighting demonstration with flint and steel and another will also be demonstrated and signalling will be shown. Each troop moreover will put on an individual stunt of its own and there will be a suit-case race, a comic feature. There will be two speakers and also a grand march. The whole program will last about two hours and a half.

Rev. J. H. Bruggers announced Sunday to his congregation that he has declined the call from the Reformed church at Corsica, S. D.

FROM ITS PUBLIC NOTICE

A tantalizing notice headed "To Public" appeared in this week's issue of the Zeeland Record which contained just enough information to arouse the curiosity of the readers and not enough to tell them what's that and who's who in the matter. The notice was signed by the consistory of the First Reformed Church of Zeeland and reads as follows:

"The Zeeland public school building, just completed, and an ornament to our city, and now occupied by the various departments for the development of mind and body, for study and recreation, should always be remembered as a place for the upbuilding of character and the enlargement of noble ideas."

"However, sometimes conditions develop (as we are informed) which cast a shadow, not only on our school but also on the community at large. And if they happen on the school grounds or in the buildings so as to require discipline, we believe that it is the duty of the public, to uphold discipline, whenever it is for the best interest of the school and the public at large."

"And as we are informed that criticism is made about the discipline of our superintendent Mr. Dennison, in regard to a certain matter which developed not very long ago, and we believing that in order to become good citizens, the lesson which the Apostle Paul gives us in one of his letters, like our Sunday School lesson of last Sunday, is well worth remembering."

"Now therefore, we, the consistory of the First Reformed church of Zeeland, Michigan, feel that it is our duty to express our minds in this matter. Now, therefore, we resolve, that as such consistory, we do hereby heartily approve of the action taken by Mr. Dennison, our school superintendent, and that the general public may not hesitate to endorse that which is for the best interests of all our boys and girls, believing that Mr. Dennison is just the man for the place he occupies."

BREAKS OLYMPIC SWIMMING RECORD

An Associated Press dispatch from Tampa, Fla., reads as follows:—"Miss Ethel Lackie, Illinois A. C., established a new record here in the 110 yards free style swim, making the time of 1 minute 10 1-5 seconds, or two seconds better than her 1924 Olympic mark." Miss Lackie is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lackie of Douglas.

HOLLAND WOMAN LOOKS FOR LONG LOST BROTHER

Mrs. Nancy Ann Phillips, River Ave., is making an effort to locate her brother, from whom she has been separated more than 50 years. She and the brother and another sister became orphans in childhood and were placed in different families. Her sister since has died. Mrs. Phillips recently received a photograph of H. H. P. Clearwater of Hallowell, Me., who she thinks is a relative and is anxiously awaiting additional information with respect to her brother. Mrs. Phillips says she was adopted in a family of 12 when only 5 years old.

STORE FORCE AND WIVES ARE ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Ark entertained the store force of the Vandenberg Brothers Furniture company Wednesday evening at their home at the south city limits. The members of the store force and their wives, 22 in number were present and enjoyed a delightful evening's entertainment. Music was furnished by Miss Susanna Hamelink and the Ter Beek brothers and a program of readings was given by Miss Wilma Kasten.

WASHINGTON VIEWS TO BE SHOWN

The Woman's Literary club has a treat in store for Holland people on the evening of March 10th when Mr. Charles Colfax Long presents in the high school auditorium his exquisite illustrated lecture of two hundred marvelously colored views, Washington monument, the library of congress and the new cathedral in sunlight and moonlight and in the glory of the varied seasons.

MANY WANT TO BE TOWNSHIP TREASURER

Holland township will witness a lively scramble for the office of treasurer at the annual caucus scheduled for March 14. As far as known eight candidates are rivals for the office to succeed John Ellander, who is ineligible for a third term. The candidates include P. Hamelink, J. Pelon, D. Plagemars, K. P. Vandenbosch, Ted Bosch and S. Zeerip. The treasurer receives as his salary 1 per cent of every dollar collected. J. Y. Huizenga and Charles Ellander are candidates for supervisor and clerk. Huizenga has held the office of supervisor for 20 years and Ellander has been clerk for eight years.

VRIESLAND BRIDGE WORK CONTINUES

The Ottawa county road commission stated Thursday that the report concerning the abandonment of bridge construction at the Vriesland sinkhole area on M-51 was an error and that the temporary bridge for traffic there would be ready for use by March seventh.

Working is going ahead on the regular road bed and it is hoped to have things in shape in good season. The statement is true that the first bridge proved unable to stand traffic but engineers believe that a new type of construction will solve the difficulty. Lights have been placed and the crew is working night and day on the structure.

GRAND RAPIDS MUSICIANS SING IN HOLLAND

The choral society of the Seventh Reformed church of Grand Rapids came to Holland in a special interurban car Thursday night and gave a delightful program in the Fourth Reformed church. The visitors came through in spite of the storm and they performed before a reasonably good sized audience. Peter Smits is director and Richard Van Neuren pianist.

The following program was given: prayer, Rev. G. Vander Linden, pastor of 4th Reformed church; remarks, P. Klaver of 4th Reformed church; chorus, "Turn Ye Ever to Me." Harker; chorus "Jubilate," Williams; solo, "Face to Face," Ethel Hoekstra; chorus, "Give Thanks to God." Nevin; reading, "The Swan Song," Margaret Oosting; chorus, "By the Waters of Babylon," Higgs; duet, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone," Ann C. Boshoven and Mrs. H. Borge; organ solo, selected, Richard Van Neuren; solo, "I've Done My Work," (Bond), Ann C. Boshoven; chorus, "Benedictus," Buck and "The Earth is the Lord's," Brown. Remarks and benediction by Rev. Mr. Vander Linden.

BAD WEATHER DOES NOT HOLD BACK AUDIENCE

Despite the inclement weather a large audience gathered at Sixteenth street Christian Reformed church to listen to a program put on by members of the Young Men's Society of that church.

The proceeds of this entertainment are intended for the benefit of the "Young Calvinist," which is the official organ of the American Federation of the Reformed Young Men's societies.

The program was well balanced with musical numbers and here and there an essay or reading was interspersed. Two dialogues were also given, one in the Dutch language and entitled, "De Nieuwe Voorzanger." The other was given in the English, entitled, "His First Address."

This Young Men's society has a membership of thirty and it is claimed to be the largest organization of this kind in the city.

Rev. H. Keestra is president and J. Prins, sr., is their vice president.

AUTOISTS PRAISE FARMER NEAR VRIESLAND HILL

The Vriesland detour was the scene of much activity between the hours of 10 P. M. and 2 A. M. Sunday night. Men's tempers, if not their souls, were severely tried and tried and tried.

The one bad hill on this road was so slippery that no one without tire chains could hope to make the grade to the top. One man in a high powered sedan even used his chains as a pair of skates in demonstrating the fact that haste makes waste. When he finally tried going slowly he went about 1,000 times faster than when he tried to hurry, as his chains took hold.

Mr. Sietsa Baron, a farmer residing at the bottom of this hill, should be voted a medal of honor by the road commission and the people of this section who can understand a man rising from bed at 10:30 and helping each and every one who needed help, even using his own chains for the benefit of those unwise enough to be without them. And he did it without expectation of pay. His unmitigated hands were nearly frozen and he had left the house hurriedly not dressed for such a blizzard but he was the most cheerful one of those present. At 12 o'clock there were 20 cars stalled on this hill. Some must have stayed most of the night.

"FLYING DUTCHMAN" TAKES 20 DAYS IN JAIL

The trial of Nick Dykstra, better known as the "Flying Dutchman" was held Tuesday morning before Justice Den Herder. Dykstra was charged with reckless driving, he having run down a Mexican at the corner of 8th street and River avenue.

The man was considerably hurt was riding home from work on his wheel when Dykstra swung around the corner at a high rate of speed knocking the man to the pavement. Dykstra was arrested and he demanded a trial which was set for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The "Flying Dutchman" came without a legal adviser, but pleaded his own case. There was no jury and Pros. A. J. Miles appeared for the people. The evidence was conclusive and Judge De Henner pronounced the man guilty and gave him the alternative of paying a fine of $33 or going to the Ottawa county jail for 20 days. Dykstra took the jail sentence and is now the guest of Sheriff Fred Kamferbeek.

Dykstra has a bad record, having been arrested several times for his reckless driving. His machine killed Marcus Kuisenga on the Zeeland-Holland road about a year ago but he was exonerated by a coroner's jury. After the trial Chief Van Ry demanded Dykstra's driver's license and has written Sec'y of State DeLand that the license be revoked for a year, which is as far as the state law goes. This will be the second time that the "Flying Dutchman's" driver's license has been taken away.

80 PER CENT OF PUPILS ARE IMMUNIZED

At the regular meeting of the city board of health Monday a report was made on the recent toxin-antitoxin campaign that was carried out in the local schools since January first. The work was completed a short time ago and health officer Cook announced to the board that a total of 2,700 children have been immunized against diphtheria, representing over 80 per cent of the children in Holland of school and pre-school age.

All the grade schools, both public and parochial, and all the high schools were covered in the campaign. Opportunity was given at special clinics for mothers to bring their children of pre-school age, and the pre-school children who took the complete treatment of three "shots" numbered 174.

The board of health has a card index record of all the children who have taken the full treatment and from now on the efforts will be centered on the work of getting as many of the others to take the treatment as possible. It is likely that early next year there will be another toxin-antitoxin campaign to take care of the new "crop" of school children as well as of those who have not yet taken the treatment. In this way it is hoped to make the childhood of Holland quite completely immune to diphtheria. The same policy will be followed in regard to vaccination for small pox. It is expected, thus, that the children of Holland with reasonable completeness both diphtheria and small pox.

The board of health Monday expressed thanks to all those who helped to make the campaign a bigger success than had been even hoped for—Supt. E. E. Fell, Prin. J. J. Riemersma, the school teachers, Miss Koertge, the city nurse, Mrs. Nelle Vander Meulen, school attendance officer, the doctors who co-operated, and the newspapers.

The board expressed the hope that the schools near Holland, such as the east 8th street school, the Pine Creek school and other nearby schools whose children mingle with Holland school pupils would also take the treatment. The Beechwood school pupils have already taken the treatment and it is hoped that other schools will follow suit.

MUSKEGON AND FRANKFORT GET BEST OF HARBOR BILL

The rivers and harbors bill which passed the senate Saturday night without the amendments requiring Muskegon and Frankfort to pay 20 per cent of the cost of their breakwaters, was passed by the house in similar form, Cong. J. C. McLaughlin informed the Muskegon chamber of commerce late Monday.

The amendments calling for a $286,750 contribution at Muskegon and a contribution of $246,750 at Frankfort were added by the senate commerce committee last week. Later on the recommendation of Sen. Jones, chairman of the committee, the senate rejected the Frankfort amendment, but passed that requiring a Muskegon contribution. Cong. McLaughlin succeeded in knocking out this amendment before the bill came up for final passage Saturday night.

MOTH BALLS PUT GOPHERS TO ROUT

W. W. Dawkins, a large producer of sweet potatoes in Oklahoma, has found another use for the much despised moth ball and has been saved from ruin.

Gophers were tunneling under the sweet potato beds of Dawkins and he had almost given up all hope of raising crops. A friend told him to roll moth balls down into the hole where the gophers were making their homes and that he would soon be rid of them.

Dawkins thought his friends were "kidding" him but as he had tried everything else suggested he saw no harm in giving the moth balls a whirl. He tried the experiment and reports it worked fine. The gophers now give him a wide berth and he expects to raise a bumper crop of sweet spuds next year.

Have you filed your income tax statement? If not, it is time to get busy. Zero day for filing the statement is March 15. The law is mandatory, requiring all single persons having an income of $1000 to file a statement, while married folks earning $2000 must do likewise.

Galoshes, hopefully stored behind the kitchen door a couple of weeks or more ago when the weather turned warm, were dragged into public again Thursday, together with numerous sheep-skin coats and such of like warmth.

GEORGE F. GETZ LOSES MONEY IN ROBBERY

The following is from "The Black Diamond," a coal dealers' magazine published in Chicago: "Safe-crackers, apparently of the professional type, invaded the offices of the Globe Coal Co. last Monday night and escaped with a rich haul. Evidently gaining admission by means of a duplicate key, since no locks were disturbed, the marauders broke the combination locks of several fireproof cabinets and escaped with approximately $8,500 in cash. The company's loss was not large, as most of the currency was the personal property of George F. Getz, president, and F. W. Barrett, vice-president of the company. One of the men who engaged in the holdup and robbery of the Eurkea Coal & Dock Co.'s office a few weeks ago has been identified and arrested."

CARDBOARD NO LONGER LEGAL FOR CAR PLATES

Under the new motor vehicle tax legislation that became effective on March first, cardboard transit permits legalized under the old act, will no longer be available nor permissible on motor vehicles of any kind or character. This taboo their use by manufacturers, dealers and individuals in the state of Michigan and also prohibits their use by persons from other states in transporting cars out of Michigan.

The new law greatly liberalized the use of dealers' metal plates and duplicates may be obtained at just half the former price.

EIGHT NEW T. B. CASES REPORTED IN 2 MONTHS

A rather startling condition was reported to the city board of health Monday when health officer Cook brot out the fact that during the first two months in 1925 a total of eight new cases of tuberculosis in Holland have been reported to his department. It is of course not likely that this average will be kept up during the whole of the year but if it should be it would reveal a condition that is almost unprecedented here.

Tuberculosis is a disease that can be prevented and also a disease that can be cured quite easily. The death rate from tuberculosis throughout the registered area in the United States has been cut down by more than half during the last 20 years so that today tuberculosis is no longer the dreaded plague it once was and its death rate is no longer the largest of all the diseases as it once was when it was called "the captain of the hosts of death."

There have been repeated attempts to secure a sanatorium for Ottawa county but they have always failed. The present large number of cases here is one of the results of such failure.

ALLEGAN FARM AGENT PLANS SCHOOL OF FRUIT RAISING

Horticultural work will play an important part in the 1925 program of Allegan County Agent O. T. Gregg as a result of the executive committee giving its approvals to the projects as outlined in the agents report. A number of pear blight control schools have been held and Mr. Gregg is now making arrangements for peach and apple pruning demonstrations.

An effort will be made this season to interest more farmers in mining marl and applying the soil sweetener to their prospective alfalfa and sweet clover field. Cow testing associations will be promoted and reorganized.

ENFORCEMENT OF AUTO PLATE LAW IS UP TO TOWNS

Lansing, March 3.—Enforcement of the ruling that automobiles must be equipped with 1925 license plates after March 1 is being left almost entirely in the hands of local officials, the secretary of state declared today.

The state insists that everyone had a chance to obtain plates prior to March 1. No extension of time has the sanction of the state and officers everywhere are at liberty to make arrests of motorists displaying old tags.

The state department, however, does not plan to interfere, except perhaps in isolated cases, where local officers refuse to force compliance of the March 1 rule. State police, operating on the country highways, plan to insist that automobiles be equipped with new plates, but it is not expected their activities will conflict to any marked degree with municipal or other community rulings.

According to word received at the department today from virtually all the larger cities, thousands of owners are without plates. A number of Detroit cars were held in Ann Arbor, but it was expected they would be released with a warning to get tags.

In Wayne county a local ruling extending the time 15 days has been adopted.

Mrs. Alvinia Polhamus, who would have been 94 years old had she lived until March 14, died at Coopersville Monday following a brief illness. Mrs. Polhamus, whose maiden name was Noble, was born at Sodus, N. Y., in 1831 and following her marriage to Philip Polhamus removed to a farm near Coopersville in 1867. Her husband died three years later.

The funeral was Thursday afternoon at 1:30 with interment in the Ravenna cemetery.

Mrs. Polhamus is survived by three sons and two daughters: George and John Polhamus of Coopersville, Winford Polhamus of Ferrysburg; Mrs. Robert Alyea of Muskegon and Mrs. A. O. Halsted of Grand Lodge.

Frank Kitson, ex-National and American league baseball pitcher of twenty-five years ago, has returned to his home in Allegan after a three weeks' stay at Ann Arbor. Kitson was in bad health and took treatment at the state hospital. Kitson is well known in Holland and in the earlier baseball days he played ball with Allegan against Holland and Hope College teams. Later the big league took him up and he was one of the best pitchers of his time.

BEET COMPANIES HAVE GOOD YEAR SAYS REPORT

Michigan beet-sugar companies have finished their 1924 slicing campaign with one of the most satisfactory seasons in years, says a survey completed by the Wall Street Journal. More beets have been sliced than ever and the sugar content is highest on record. After a series of lean years several Michigan companies will again show profits which should enable them to clear up existing bank loans and resume dividends on common stocks. About 30 per cent of the state's estimated production of 160,000 short tons of beet sugar has been sold.

Michigan's crop of beets is estimated at over 1,000,000 tons, against 883,000 tons last year, a gain of about 25 per cent. Cool, dry weather last autumn cut the yield per acre, but increased sugar content 15 per cent, and better. Ordinarily it is about 15 per cent, and was that last year. Yield per acre in 1923 was about eight tons.

Michigan Sugar company, the largest operator in the state, will double its last season's sugar output, this year harvesting 725,000 tons of beets from 87,784 acres, which will yield upward of 200,000,000 pounds of sugar. Bankers declare Michigan Sugar will earn in excess of $2,500,000. This would compare with $939,646 net after the charges earned in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924.

Columbia Sugar company's production this year is estimated at 80,000,000 pounds and earnings at close to $1,500,000. Continental Sugar which operates in Michigan and Ohio, harvested 20,000 acres, which yielded approximately 175,000 tons of beets and will turn out nearly 58,000,000 pounds of sugar. Last year Continental produced 50,940,000. Holland-St. Louis Sugar, operating on the west side of the state, will turn out over 35,000,000 lbs. of sugar, against $1,194,800 last year, when profits before charges and depreciation were $392,076.

ANNOUNCES LENTEN SERMON SERIES

Rev. John H. Bruggers, Sixth Reformed church, announces a series of Sunday evening Lenten service subjects. The general subject is "Christ Touching Men." Special topics bearing on this subject are as follows: "Judas, or the Ineffectual Touch," "Pilate, or the Semblance of Touch," "Peter, or the Over-sure Touch," "Simon, or the Burden-bearing Touch," "The Thief, or the Last Minute Touch." The first of the series will be discussed next Sunday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

FRIESIANS OF NATION TO BOOST GRAND RAPIDS

Publications of the Holland-Friesland Association of America, scheduled to meet at Grand Rapids June 2 to 4, and of the National Association of Stationers, Office Outfitters and Manufacturers, which will hold its convention in that city Oct. 13 to 15, will give considerable space to Grand Rapids, according to information received by the Association of Commerce.

OLD FLAPPERS WORSE THAN YOUNG ONES

Young people of today were defended by Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, of Chicago, editor of the Epworth Herald, official organ of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, in an address at Albion, Mich., before a student church of Albion college. "If we could make real Christians of the flappers of 41, 51, and 61 years of age we would have much less trouble with the girl of 14, 15 and 16, stated the editor. "The criticism and fault finding which youth comes in for in this age is unwarranted in the largest measure. Every age has its peculiarities, but between youth and enthusiasm and old age and rheumatism, give me the first two."

GASOLINE PRODUCTION EXCEEDS ALL RECORDS

Washington, Feb. 27.—Gasoline production in the United States in 1924 amounted to 8,959,680,220 gallons, by far the greatest annual output in the industry's history, according to interior department statistics made public today. The figure exceeds by 1,403,735,077 gallons the previous high mark set in 1923.

KNICKERBOCKER SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL STAG

Holding their annual midwinter stag, the Knickerbocker Society of Hope college met at the Grace Episcopal church banquet hall and were served to a roast turkey dinner on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

At this event many of the society alumni met with the members and strengthen the fraternal bond of friendship between old and new members.

After spending a short time in renewing acquaintances, the members seated themselves at the banquet tables and enjoyed the best that culinary skill has to offer. The president, Mr. Russel Van Dyke, acted as toastmaster and introduced the entertainers, who responded to program numbers which had been arranged in the order of a church service.

Order of Service: Prelude, T. Cramen; Invocation, R. Van Dyke; Junior sermon, W. Hughes; To the Choir, F. Olet; Offertory, F. Fieldhouse, Norman Vander Hart, and Ray Smith, Sermon, John De Maagd; Benediction, R. Kuiper. The banquet closed with the singing of the Knickerbocker song.

The Ladies' Mission Circle of the First Reformed Church of Zeeland will give a pageant, "The Cross Triumphant—Episodes in the Progress of Christianity in Japan." The pageant will be given Thursday and Friday nights of this week, in the First Reformed church of Zeeland. The public is invited. A silver collection will be taken.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Christian Reformed church at Hudsonville presented the pastor, Rev. T. J. Krohne, a leather upholstered easy chair on his recent birthday anniversary.

The recent cold weather has given renewed life to the coal business in Holland. Dealers here have been kept busy since the cold weather started in contrast to the dropping off in business during the recent warm weather.

OTTAWA GETS BIG SHARE OF STATE PAVING

Interesting figures have been compiled regarding the concrete road construction under the fifty million dollar bond issue authorized during 1919 and put into operation in 1920. These figures show Ottawa to be tied for fourth place among counties of the state for concrete road construction. It is right in line with counties that are more populous and only bows to the very largest counties in the state.

In concrete road construction, St. Clair county leads with 80 miles of concrete while Wayne county has 50 miles and is second. Kent county has 43 miles and Ottawa, Monroe and Muskegon all have about 47 miles of pavement. Strictly speaking Ottawa county got but a fraction under 50 miles of pavement counting macadam roads constructed between Holland and the Allegan county line on M-11.

This county was also well up in bridge construction, being near the top with eleven spans of more than 30 feet in length. Two of these bridges were large structures being constructed at Ferrysburg. It is estimated that $1,500,000 was spent in road construction here during the period covered by the bond issue. Of this amount Ottawa county stood 25 per cent of the costs.

Ottawa county has all its trunk lines paved with the exception of the short gaps which do not total more than a mile and which will be paved this summer. This makes a fine paved triangle between the two larger cities of the county, taking in the important smaller communities and connecting them with Grand Rapids, the metropolis of Western Michigan and Muskegon, the second largest city in this section.

Under the big bond issue, the report shows one thousand one hundred and ninety-five miles of concrete constructed in addition to the many miles of macadam and improved gravel highways.

Miss Florence Welty, formerly with the Melsen Beauty Shoppe of Muskegon has accepted a position at the Bob Shoppe. Miss Welty comes highly recommended.

SPECIAL ELECTION!

SEWAGE DISPOSAL LOAN

Clerk's Office, Holland, Mich.

February 25, 1925

To the Electors of the City of Holland:

You will please take notice that at a meeting of the common council of the city of Holland, held on Wednesday the 4th day of February, A. D. 1925, the following resolutions and resolutions were duly adopted, viz:—

WHEREAS, the Common Council deems it necessary to prohibit and prevent depositing filth, sewage and other impure, unwholesome and offensive matter in the waters and streams of the city and it is immediately necessary for the general welfare and health of the inhabitants of the City of Holland to provide adequate means for the reduction and disposal of sewage;

THEREFORE, for the purpose of constructing and installing a sewage reduction and disposal system and plant, including the purchase of a site therefor and the installation of a complete and adequate system of sewage treatment, suitable for the needs of the city, it is hereby resolved:—

First, that the Common Council shall construct and install a system of sewage treatment, reduction and disposal, suitable and adequate for the needs of the city of Holland and purchase the necessary lands for a site therefor, at an estimated cost to the city of Holland of not to exceed One hundred ninety-five thousand ($195,000) Dollars.

Second, that it is hereby determined and proposed that the said amount of One hundred ninety-five thousand ($195,000) Dollars be raised by loan and that for the purpose on said loan, the bonds of the City of Holland be issued in the sum of One Hundred Ninety-five Thousand ($195,000) Dollars, in the manner as follows, to wit: one hundred ninety-five (195) bonds in denominations as hereinafter set forth, with interest coupons attached thereto, said bonds to be designated as "City Sewage Disposal System Bonds," and to be numbered, one (1) to one hundred ninety-five (195) inclusive, and to be of like date and interest, excepting due dates and to be payable as follows:

In the year 1945 the sum of $ 350.00 and said taxes or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the interest on the above bonds are now so levied for each of the above named years.

That for the purpose of paying the principal on the above named bonds as the same becomes due, there shall be annually levied on the taxable property in the City of Holland and annually assessed and collected a tax sufficient to raise the following sums: In the year 1926 the sum of $ 2000.00 In the year 1927 the sum of 4000.00 In the year 1928 the sum of 6000.00 In the year 1929 the sum of 8000.00 In the year 1930 the sum of 10000.00 In the year 1931 the sum of 20000.00 In the year 1932 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1933 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1934 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1935 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1936 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1937 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1938 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1939 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1940 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1941 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1942 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1943 the sum of 12000.00 In the year 1944 the sum of 7000.00 or so much thereof as may be necessary to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem the above bonds at maturity, and said taxes in the sums above mentioned are now so levied for the years above mentioned; and said taxes or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be assessed and collected in each of the above years, and said taxes shall be applied only to the purpose named.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that all moneys collected from the above taxes together with any and all other moneys which the Council may appropriate for the payment of the principal or interest of the above bonds, shall be paid into a separate fund to be known as "City Sewage Disposal System Bonds Sinking Fund" which fund is hereby established.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the moneys assessed and collected as above set forth, constituting said "City Sewage Disposal System Bonds Sinking Fund" shall be used for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of said above described bonds as above provided and only for the purpose named.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk, and to be negotiated at such times and in such manner as the Common Council may direct but at a price not less than the par value thereof.

WHEREAS IT IS NECESSARY and the Common Council deems it advisable to submit the proposition of raising said amount by the issuing of bonds, to the vote of the electors of the city:

THEREFORE, Be it Further Resolved:

First, That the proposition to raise the amount of One Hundred Ninety-five Thousand ($195,000) Dollars by loan and to issue bonds of the City of Holland therefor, as hereinbefore determined and proposed and set forth, and to be payable at the time and in the manner hereinbefore set forth, be submitted to the vote of the electors of the City of Holland at a special election for that purpose, to be held on Monday, the Sixth day of April, A. D. 1925, and said day is hereby designated a Special Election for such purpose.

"Shall the City of Holland raise by loan the sum of One Hundred Ninety-five Thousand ($195,000) Dollars, to be used for the purpose of constructing and installing a system of sewage treatment, reduction and disposal, suitable and adequate for the needs of the City of Holland and purchase the necessary lands for a site therefor, and shall the bonds of the City of Holland, one hundred ninety-five (195) in number, to be termed "City Sewage Disposal System Bonds" to be issued therefore in denominations of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars each, to be numbered from one to one hundred ninety-five (195) inclusive, and to be payable as follows:

The annual meeting of the Saugatuck Commercial club held at Hotel Butler heard an interesting topic discussed: "Shall Saugatuck Have a Community House?" Judging by the sentiments expressed an affirmative reply will be a reality.

Rev. S. J. Kelley of Allegan is making intensive preparations for the father and son banquet to held in the Fifth Federated church next Thursday evening. The principal speaker will be Dr. William G. Spencer, president of Hillsdale college.

Facing three serious charges, a Grand Rapids man appeared in a court as his own lawyer, and won a verdict of not guilty. He will not grumble about paying the lawyer anything he cares to ask.

Judge Cross has renewed his offer of last year of $25 for prizes in the Allegan high school oratorical and declamation contest. This will be divided to give $10 for first prize for the best oration and $5 for the second and $7 and $3 for the first and second declamatory prizes. An elimination trial will be held at once and the final contest will be held about March 10.

HOPE COLLEGE GLEE CLUB RETURNS FROM THE EAST IN TRIUMPH

The Hope College Girls' Glee Club have returned home laden with praise and rich in experience. They more than fulfilled the hopes and expectations of the friends of Hope wherever they sang, large and enthusiastic audiences greeted them and the many alumni in the eastern states flocked to meet and hear the young ladies. At Patterson, N. J., alone more than a dozen Hope graduates were present, three seminary students coming from Princeton to swell the large audience. The largest audience of all was met at Passaic, N. J., more than a thousand and being present.

The eastern papers were enthusiastic in their praise of the young ladies singing; also several letters have been received in Holland. Among others Rev. A. Van Westenbrugge, Scotia, N. Y., writes as follows: "The Girls' Glee Club did very well here. The splendid appearance, the lady-like deportment of the girls, and their excellent training were the subject of highest commendation. The college received a big return on this advertising project. The people here seem to feel that they were honored by having the girls, and this is a very desirable attitude."

The girls returned in perfect health, highly enthusiastic for Hope. The college has been well advertised, and the expenses have been very nearly met by the collections.

FRUIT GROWERS EXCHANGE AT FENNVILLE BUILD OWN LADDERS

Growers of the Fennville Fruit exchange for the past 10 years have demanded a ladder that would answer all the requirements of the average grower of this vicinity and now the exchange has undertaken the manufacture of a ladder in its plant this year. The work so far has been done by hand and the daily capacity at this time is about 15 ladders per day. No orders have been taken from outside the exchange members but the ladders are especially adapted for the use of the growers in this section. The work so far has been confined to stepladders.

Is your luck bad? If so, catch a sheephead and change it. Two small stones like kidney beans are found in the head of the sheephead, or fresh water drum. The Indians call them "lucky stones" as they are grooved deeply with the letter "L." In Wisconsin, where the sheephead is common, the superstitious angler never expectorates on his lure to change his luck. He gets hold of a sheephead, cuts out and pockets the stones.

SUCKER IN SPRING CHOICEST OF FISH

NOTHING CAN QUITE COMPARE WITH IT EARLY IN MARCH WHEN FLESH IS FIRM AND HARD

The following by Albert Stroll, Jr., in the Detroit News:—"Give me a sucker taken out of the icy waters at Spring flood time and I'll lay claim to the sweetest bit of fish food the season affords."

This sums up fairly accurately the opinion among those who fish for food as soon as the ice goes out.

The lowly sucker, despised by the trout fishermen, considered lightly by the commercial operators, has his horde of friends before he begins his spawning run. To the banks of the swollen stream or the shore of the over-bowing stream come the sucker fishermen in early March. It is then that they may be taken out with dip net or spear much to the delight of the farmer lad who reckons this as a seasonable event.

At this time of year the flesh of the sucker is firm and hard something that cannot be said of the fish at other times of the year. What does it matter if he is a bit bony? What he lacks in this respect as a table tidbit, he certainly makes up in sweetness.

It isn't unusual to run into one of those good old fashioned farmers who still persist in putting up his keg of salted suckers when the run is on. This used to be a general practice among the old-timers.

When the waters start to warm up the sucker becomes soft and flabby. Nobody wants him except to use as bait for other fish, and as that, he runs a poor 2nd to chubs or shiners. Terms $1.50 per year with a discount of 50c to those paying in advance. Rates of Advertising made known upon Application.

FOUR LAKE STEAMERS STILL HELD FAST IN ICE AT GRAND HAVEN

The Grand Trunk car ferry, Milwaukee, tried vainly to ram its way through the slush ice off Grand Haven today, with the idea of releasing the ferry, Grand Haven, and the passenger steamers, Alabama and the United States. When night closed in, however, the ships still remained prisoners, while passengers and crews cast anxious eyes seaward, hoping for a break in the fogs.

The three boats were cradled in the ice, while the Milwaukee was able to maneuver about to a certain extent but could not get far beyond the harbor mouth. Meanwhile the ice field stretches for miles into the lake and the wind continues to blow from a westerly direction.

BUSINESS MESSAGES INTERFERE WITH GRAND HAVEN RADIO PLEASURES

Grand Haven radio fans last night were quite thoroughly aware of the fact that the steamers were caught in the ice off this port. Both Grand Trunk car ferries, the Alabama and the United States are held by the heavy ice floes which have suddenly appeared all along the east shore. The Alabama and the United States are both equipped with wireless, and last night their code messages came through Grand Haven radios in such a manner as to break up most of the early evening programs. However, it was a case of business before pleasure.—Grand Haven Tribune.

AT LEAST 3,000 HEADS OF CATTLE KILLED IN OTTAWA

COUNTY FARM AGENT SAYS POOR CATTLE BEING SHIPPED IN; FARMERS MAKE MISTAKE

Tuberculin testing of cattle in Ottawa county has meant the removing of over 3,000 head of well-bred cattle due to infection with tuberculosis. Many farmers have counted on the income from the dairy business to enable them to make a living and provide a means of marketing grain and roughages. Many farmers who lost cattle through the test wished to replace their depleted herds and because local cattle were not for sale turned to sections outside the county and have purchased cattle. So far said County Agent Milham, it is known that about 16 carloads have been shipped in. Some of these cattle do not appear to be as good as local cattle so the condition of the business is going downward due to shipping in poorer animals. This is the contention of County Farm Agent Milham.

Farmers are cautioned not to buy poorer animals than they now possess. It is better to have fewer and better cows. There is a large surplus of dairy products in storage and the probability is the dairy business will not improve much for at least two years. In order to place the dairy business in Ottawa county on a better basis Agricultural Agent Milham has fostered organization of cow testing associations. At present there are three operating successfully, Coopersville, Allendale and Japetown. Studying the conditions of the association records at Coopersville one finds that 25% of the cows last year did not pay any profit. These figures are accurate and prove startling. Efforts are being made now to start an association in the Holland-Zeeland territory. A cow testing association will improve the dairy business by eliminating boarder cows and encouraging proper feeding and breeding of good cows. There is money in good cows. No more poor cows should be bought, more should go to the butcher, says Mr. Milham.

It is well to buy cattle from men you know and be cautious in dealing with strangers. In any event all cattle purchased should be thoroughly inspected so that nothing but a one stock is secured.

TRINITY CHURCH PASTOR TO BEGIN ANOTHER SERIES

Next Sunday evening the pastor of Trinity Reformed Church, Rev. C. P. Dame will begin another series of sermons for young people. The subject of the series is, "The Question of Attitudes." The following sermons compose the series: "The Right and Wrong Attitude Toward a Sin"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude toward a Temptation"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude Toward a Call of God"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude toward an Opportunity"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude toward Marriage"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude Toward Life"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude Toward the Bible"; "The Right and Wrong Attitude toward Jesus." The pastor will preach the first sermon of the series next Sunday evening when the Girl's Glee Club of Hope College will sing.

Services at Wesleyan Methodist church, corner Pine and 17th street, will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. Visser. The morning service will begin at 10:30, the pastor speaking on the subject, "Forsaken of God." In the evening Rev. Visser will have as his subject, "Behold the Lamb of God." Special music will be rendered by the Senior choir at the morning service and by the boys and girls choir in the evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

One Hundred Percent

The expression "One Hundred Per Cent" has been in common use lately. In Red Cross activities, Y. M. C. A. School and College circles, in large business offices, in manufacturing plants, in fact wherever there is any competition an effort has been made to obtain a "100 per cent" rating. There is no reason why every man, woman and child should not have a "100 per cent" health rating. Health is normal, in other words 100 per cent. Disease is subnormal or below 100 per cent.

The Chiropractor is a high grade machinist who knows that the human body is the most wonderful, the most perfect machine in existence. If anything goes wrong with this machine he does not try to rectify matters by taking away one of its important parts. That would be not only ridiculous but would be reducing the efficiency of the machine to way below the 100 per cent mark. It stands to reason that if part of a machine is taken away and not replaced the parts that are left will have to do the extra work which should have been accomplished by the missing part. The result will be disaster.

What would you think of an automobile salesman who would try to sell you a car with one or more of the important parts missing? You would refuse to purchase because you would say and truthfully so that the car was not 100 per cent. No human being who has been on the operating table and who has had some vital organ removed is 100 per cent.

Disease is caused by nerve pressure, by interference with these channels which transmit mental impulses from the brain to every tissue cell in the body. If 100 per cent of mental impulse is fully expressed in function, then we have NORMAL HEALTH, A BOON TO WHICH EVERY HUMAN BEING IS ENTITLED. If there is interference and the Chiropractor is summoned, he goes at once to the seat of the trouble, adjusting the subluxated vertebrae to their natural positions by the use of his bare hands only. He then makes it possible for the full amount of life force to reach the diseased organs and in a short time HEALTH IS THE RESULT.

FORMER HOLLAND MAN MAKES GOOD IN THE WEST

The Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader through a period until the 19th county agricultural agent Milham will hold a series of meetings in the following article:

John Rooks, U. S. marshal for South Dakota, is a friend of criminals.

It may seem out of the way for a representative of Uncle Sam, whose duty it is to throw men behind the bars, to act any other way than harshly. Mr. Rooks, however, has his own policy.

He is noted for the vigor with which he pursues men charged with crime. When he comes upon them he acts in a perfectly cool way. Only when the prisoner is "hardboiled" does he treat them accordingly. Before long, the prisoner, of whatever temper, gets to like the marshal. Mr. Rooks declares he has parted with only one prisoner who has not become his friend.

Not that the marshal is one who goes slapping people on the back or shaking hands in an effort to extend his friendship. But a person in trouble, confronted with a serious federal charge, wants someone in whom he can confide. He finds that person in this officer.

"I usually tell prisoners the best thing to do is plead guilty," Mr. Rooks said in an interview. "Any man can slip and do something wrong. But the thing for him to do then is to get it off his chest and start life clean again. If he does that he is as good a man as you or I."

The present United States marshal has held that office since a year ago last June. Before his appointment he was deputy marshal for one year at Aberdeen. He gained his federal position by his record as sheriff in Perkins county from 1914 to 1918.

Owing to the seriousness of federal law violations, men accused of crime are treated differently than those accused of state violations. Officers from the prohibition department, postoffice, secret service, narcotic section, or bureau of investigation, first must "get the goods" on the suspect. Then a United States commissioner must issue a warrant for arrest. Arrest must be by the marshal or his deputies.

After arrest, the suspect is taken by the marshal before a commissioner for examination. If the commissioner decides there is sufficient evidence of law violation he will bind the captive over to the grand jury and name his bond. If the prisoner is able to give bond he is released. If not he must stay in jail until the next term of court. If the grand jury returns an indictment against him, upon hearing his case, it is the duty of the United States marshal to present him for trial. The marshal must rearrest the man and procure another bond or else place the indicted man in jail.

There are also duties of a civil nature. The marshal and his deputies must serve papers in all civil actions in federal court, as the sheriff does in state court. He is also the paymaster for the department of justice. The marshal's office pays all fees to witnesses and jurymen, and salaries of all in the department of justice except agents in the bureau of investigation. For his financial responsibilities Mr. Rooks is required to furnish a bond of $25,000.

While court is in session the marshal or a deputy is always present to preserve order, and take care of those being tried. Assisting him in keeping order in the court room is the bailiff.

All of these duties over the entire state are executed by Mr. Rooks and six deputies. N. H. Jensen and Mrs. Leah M. Barrett are office deputies. Deputy Clyde M. Cessno takes care of work in the hills and is stationed at Rapid City. W. O. Jones is at Aberdeen. Governor Gunderson took a deputy from Mr. Rooks for the office of state sheriff in the person of E. E. Gregory, whose post now is vacant. The other deputy is John Berry, having headquarters here.

Mr. Rooks came to Campbell county 32 years ago, as a young man of 20, from Holland, Mich. There he came to be owner of a general store. Later he moved to Westfield, in Emmons county, N. D., where he operated a store and came to be postmaster. He freighted his store goods 45 miles and marketed his produce at an army post, Fort Yates. Later he moved back to Michigan and operated a meat market in his home town for five years.

In 1908 the South Dakota fever again struck the present marshal, and he lit out for west of the river to Perkins county, which had been opened by the coming of the Milwaukee railroad but a year or two before. His first work was operation of a meat market. He also dealt in horses, shipping in many of them the first days and later shipping them out. Later he engaged in the wholesale oil business.

It was during the war that Mr. Rooks acted as sheriff in Perkins county, and there were plenty violations to look after. That was before prohibition, but Perkins county had a problem all its own. It was dry under local option while Montana was wet and the sheriff had his duties with the rum runners.

Mr. Rooks doesn't lose much sleep over whether law should be enforced or not. He says if the people don't want a law on the statute books it is for them to remove it. The officer, he says, is merely a hired man of the public.

SUPT. FELL JUDGES IN CONTEST AT KALAMAZOO SATURDAY

Western State Normal won unanimously from Ypsilanti Saturday, when the men's debating team of Western upheld the negative side of the question of empowering congress to override, by a two-thirds vote, decisions of the supreme court to declare acts of congress unconstitutional. This was the first debate between the two schools. Western was represented by Edward Jennings, James McMonagle and Arthur Secord. The Ypsilanti team included Leon Wilber, Eugene Knapp and Raymond Harvey. The judges were: Prof. T. E. Rankin, University of Michigan; W. O. Hedrick, M. A. C., and Supt. E. E. Fell, Holland.

FORESTING THE SAND HILLS LIVE TOPIC

Beginning March 5th and continuing through a period until the 19th county agricultural agent Milham will hold a series of meetings in the different townships. Exceptionally good movies have been secured which should interest the city and town people as well as the rural population. The films are, "Uncle Sam, World's Champion Farmer," "Foresting the Sand Hills," "Hidden Foes in Seed Potatoes," "Sportsman's Paradise." The following schedule for places in this territory are:

March 12th, Olive Center Town Hall; March 13th, Blenden Town Hall; March 14th, Georgetown Grange Hall; March 15th, Forest Grove; March 16th, Vriesland; March 17th, Holland City Town Hall.

These are all evening meetings and the public is cordially invited to attend. The films are educational as well as entertaining. In addition the agricultural agent will take up present conditions in agriculture suggesting remedies.

ENTERTAIN WITH HARD TIME PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harris entertained the Jolly Five Hundred Club Saturday evening with a hard time party at their residence on west 17th St.

When the guests arrived they were indeed surprised at the appearance of the home. Instead of the usual furniture they found the rooms appropriately furnished with barrels and boxes fittingly arranged for tables to carry out the spirit of the occasion. Instead of chairs they had provided nail kegs, boxes and various improvised seats. The guests were all dressed in keeping with the spirit of the party, and as the different ones arrived there were many good hearty laughs at the quaint costumes. Every detail of the party had been carefully arranged, even the playing cards, score cards and the novel way of serving the lunch were in keeping with the balance of the arrangements. High score at cards was won by Mrs. Ben Batema and Mr. Joe Shashagay. When the guests departed at midnight they gave the host and hostess a vote of thanks for the evening's enjoyment.

TO DEDICATE CONFERENCE SITE

The formal dedication of the new Pine Lodge resort and the opening of the first Bible Conference at Holland will take place on July 1st, and will be followed by a grand celebration on July 4th, according to the plans of the directors of the enterprise, who are principally laymen from the various Reformed churches of the western part of Michigan. A continuous Bible Conference will be conducted through July and August, with speakers of prominence giving addresses daily. Along with the educational features due attention will be given to recreation under Christian supervision. Spacious, well shaded and equipped picnic facilities are on the grounds, and a large auditorium is to be erected as soon as the weather permits. There is a modern summer hotel on the grounds, and two cottages.

71 HAMILTON FOLK SUE CHAIN STORE CO. HEAD

Seventy-one residents of Hamilton township and vicinity have begun suit in circuit court to recover $11,000 and interest from F. D. Travis, formerly a resident of Plainwell, who they allege conspired to defraud them in the sale of stock in the F. D. Travis company, operating stores in Plainwell, Allegan and Prairieville. Soon after purchasing blocks of stock, it is claimed, the company went into bankruptcy. Travis is alleged to have told the plaintiffs that the stores were paying dividends of eight per cent every four months.

WORLD PEACE THEME OF THE W. C. T. U. MEET

The cold weather did not deter a large number of women from attending the W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Vandenberg on Friday afternoon.

The subject was "World Peace." Rev. S. C. Nettinga spoke on "The Church and the New World Order." He said in part: "The new world order means that the spirit of force, of the jungle, must be replaced by the spirit of brotherliness and friendliness between nations. Also justice and righteousness prevail among the governments of the nations as well as between individuals. The fall of ancient nations was due to the lack of these virtues, as Egypt and Rome for example. Although the supreme business of the church is to save souls, to work with the individual, the further duty is to influence the state in righteous government as exemplified in the message of the Old Testament prophets and Paul's letter to the churches."

The second speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. A. Pieters who read a well prepared paper on the subject of "Woman's Influence on Permanent Peace." Women's societies are giving this subject much attention, and the W. C. T. U. will open a summer school at Chautauqua this year for the study of how to promote peace between nations. The chairman spoke of Dr. Jordan's peace plans which were highly recommended at the last Chicago convention.

Mrs. De Vinney led devotions and Rutherford Huisenga gave two vocal numbers, "Roadways" and "The Angelus." Mrs. Fairbanks and committee served refreshments.

Ed. McDermid, the photographer of Zeeland, was taken to Bioggett Hospital, Grand Rapids, where he submitted to a difficult surgical operation Thursday.

EXPERT CLAIMS STATE'S RELICS GROW IN VALUE

One of Michigan's enterprises, probably regarded by some legislators as without any money making possibilities and just another source of expense, could show an excellent profit if its assets were turned into cash. It was revealed here when Mrs. Marie B. Ferrey, curator of the pioneer and historical museum, refused an offer of $250 for a pair of Italian statuettes which she purchased some years ago for the state for $5.

Mrs. Ferrey says that such incidents are not rare and that probably many of the articles in the museum could be sold for a great deal more than their original cost. This condition obtains despite the fact that the motive behind the collecting has not been to obtain articles that will increase in value as the years pass but to collect articles which will be of educational interest to visitors.

The curator says that if past state legislatures had been more liberal with appropriations many things desired by the museum collections could have been obtained at moderate prices, but which are now beyond the reach of the museum.

PEACH TREE YIELDING ANNUAL WINTER CROP

A tree in the orchard of A. Mayer, five miles from Yopo City, Calif., is bearing fruit for the fifth consecutive winter. The tree, which is seven years old, is heavily weighted with ripe peaches of the free-stone variety.

BETTER ROADS BETWEEN HOLLAND AND ALLEGAN SOON

County road commissioners Friday let contracts for building three gravel roads with a 12-foot road surface. The largest job runs from the north township line to the south township line across Lee township thru Pullman. The successful bidder was John Yerrington of Watervliet.

Mr. Yerrington also was awarded a contract to build one-half mile of road from Bravo to Pearle. Baker Bros. of Lawton were awarded the contract to build three and one-fourth miles of road between Allegan and Valley township for $2,669.48. This road is known as the Bee Line road running from Allegan to Holland and is part of the road residents of Holland, Allegan, Oshtemo, Plainwell and Kalamazoo for some months have been demanding to have built.

TWO HOLDUP MEN GET $20.00 LOOT IN MIDNIGHT RESTAURANT ROBBERY

Two men held up Anthony Contos, 35, manager of the Lyon Lunch at 128 Lyon-st., N.W., Grand Rapids after 1 o'clock Saturday morning and escaped after taking about $20 from a cash register.

Contos summoned police, but a search for the pair proved futile. The restaurant man said the two, one a youth of about 19 and the other about 25, stepped into the restaurant and ordered coffee.

Suddenly one of them drew a gun Contos asserted, and told him to throw up his hands. The other scaped up most of the money in the till and both then fled.

BUSINESS MEN URG-ED BY SWEET TO GET BEHIND RESO'T BODY

Placing the potential value of the tourist and resort business of western Michigan at $250,000,000 annually, Carroll F. Sweet, president of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association, in an address before the advertising club of Grand Rapids yesterday noon, pleaded for greater consideration on the part of Grand Rapids business men for the organization.

Business men in all of the cities and towns of western Michigan outside of Grand Rapids are more thoroughly sold on the proposition, he said, in that they see more of the direct results.

Discussions at the end of the meeting brought out the fact that there is a tendency to charge a small fee for the use of tourists camps. The Muskegon camp successfully charged a fee last year while a few private camps operated for profit were well patronized. Charging a fee tends to keep out undesirable elements, it was said, and the bona fide tourists is willing to pay for the service.

WHERE SEMINARY STUDENTS WILL PREACH

The Western Theological Seminary students will occupy pulpits Sunday as follows:

Burggraaf, Lansing, Ill.; De Haan, South Blenden, Mich.; Hoffman, Calvary, Grand Rapids; Rozeboom, 2nd Grand Rapids; Rybrandt, Hope Detroit; Hennings, Corinth, Mich.; Schipper, 2nd Hamilton; Tans, Martin; Trompen, Carr Mission, Muskegon; Menninga, Jackson and East Lawn, Muskegon; Rozendaal, Grant, Mich.

FOREIGN MISSION TREASURER SPEAKS

Friday morning Mr. F. M. Potter, treasurer of the board of foreign missions of the Reformed Church in America, spoke to the seminary students in chapel concerning his work and various problems in connection with it.

He especially stressed co-operation as a necessary feature of the organized work of the church. Pastors, he said, should seek to remove the prejudice and unfair criticism of the board and its work. Mr. Potter spoke to the college students Thursday morning. Local students highly appreciate Mr. Potter's coming.

Wm. Fant of Grand Haven, proprietor of the Holland Monument Works, motored to this city Friday. Mr. Fant states that the highway to Grand Haven is fine despite the snow storm.

SOUTH DOWNED BY HOLLAND HIGH

Holland High's quintet turned in a neat win over South High's five Friday night 23-20.

Holland grabbed an eight to three lead in the first quarter, but South came back with a vengeance in the second period and knotted the count at 11 all. In the third count Holland spurred to a 19-17 take-off and was never headed for the rest of the last period.

Van Lente led off with two baskets and two fouls while Lindner rolled in a counter. Van Zanden rolled in another two free throws. Brower opened the second session with three points and Cook added his field goal. Turnwall counted three points and Cook scored a free throw. Brower and Jones each added field goals to knot the count at eleven all.

In the second half, Van Lente tossed in two field goals and Turnwall and Brower tossed in goals. Nettinga and Van Lente counted as did Brower. Van Lente counted a long one with Lindner getting a foul. Van Zanden clinched the tilt with two ringers.

Van Raalte travelled best for the locals with Brower and Turnwall going best for South.

In a curtain raiser the local reserves took in an overtime game 20-17. They had a good lead at half time, but were forced to do some travelling in the last few minutes.

HOPE DEBATERS

GET TWO WINS

While the Hope affirmative was debating Alma, at Alma, the Hope negative team, consisting of Yntema, Wessink and Wabeke, took a 2-0 decision from the Kalamazoo team. The debate was held at Winants Chapel Friday evening. The debaters were greeted by rather a small audience.

The team that went to Alma Friday night also came home with a victory. This team was composed of Albers, Enebaggers and Hoffman. They took the affirmative side of the supreme court decisions question. The result was 2 to one in favor of Hope.

Ford News

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26.—The Ford Motor Co. entered trans-Atlantic shipping, operating its own fleet for carrying manufactured automobile parts to the company's foreign plants, Edsel B. Ford, president announced.

At the same time, Mr. Ford announced that the company has just purchased the steamer East Indian from the Emergency Corporation, as the first large unit in the proposed fleet to be put into foreign service.

"We have decided to enlarge our fleet to include large ocean going vessels which will enable us to ship to our European plants and will proceed with these plans at once," Mr. Ford said.

"Our decision in this matter has been prompted by the successful operation of our two small ships, the Steamers Onondaga and Onondaga, during the last few months.

"These ships have been engaged in carrying automobile and tractor parts to our assembly plants along the Southern coast of the U. S. and to South America, taking on other commercial cargoes on return trips north. They were put into this service on a rather experimental basis and have proven the feasibility of extending our own shipping service to Europe."

The East Indian, which the company has just purchased from the Emergency Fleet Corp., is in the yards of the Sun Ship Building Co. at Chester, Pa., where it will be reconducted. It has twin screws, driven by reciprocating steam engines, but these engines will be replaced by Diesel engines of the most modern type, Mr. Ford said. The vessel is to be entirely refitted and plans already made call for having it ready for service within six months.

The East Indian was built in 1918. It has three decks, is 485 feet in length overall, has a 58-foot beam, a capacity of 12,500 tons, a 23 foot draft and a speed of 12 to 13 knots an hour. It makes the fifth unit in the present Ford fleet.

The Ford Motor Co. first entered the shipping field last summer when it acquired the Steamers Onondaga and Onondaga and put them into service on the Great Lakes carrying ore and lumber from the Ford properties in northern Michigan to the River Rouge plant at Detroit. Later the big steel freighters, Henry Ford II and the Benson Ford, were added to the fleet.

The company sent its first ship to a foreign port November 5 last when the Steamer Onondaga, carrying a cargo of automobile parts sailed from the River Rouge plant at Detroit for the Ford assembly plant at Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America. The steamer Onondaga followed a short time later with a cargo of manufactured automobile parts for plants at New Orleans, La., Jacksonville, Fla., and Houston, Texas.

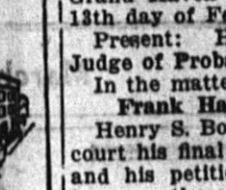

The Onondaga is at present in New York loading for another voyage to south coast assembly plants of the company. The Onondaga, which arrived at New York a few days ago with a cargo of linseed from South America, is to be fitted up for its first inter-coastal voyage on which it will carry a cargo through the Panama canal to Pacific Coast ports where Ford Assembly plants are located.

Fewer Hogs—Prices Going Up

EXPERIENCED hog breeders and buyers believe the period of excessive shipments and low prices for hogs will be followed by a period of a lower production and higher prices, according to reports received by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

For every ten hogs grown in 1923 only eight were grown in 1924. A careful survey over the hog belt further shows a 15 to 20 per cent reduction in the coming spring pig crop as compared with last year's short pig crop. This actual shortage on farms will naturally result in a lowering of shipments to markets and higher prices.

Exactly when this lowered pork supply will be felt is not certain, but it is expected during the early part of the year. Recently prices have averaged from $2.00 to $2.50 per 100 pounds higher to the producer than last winter. When the 1923 pig crop was marketed the average price of hogs at Chicago was $7.65. The corn situation and short hog supply is expected to drive prices up to more profitable levels for the producer.

No signs are visible for a falling off in the demand for hogs during 1925. If pork consumption holds up and if there follows a normal corn crop in 1925, hog feeding this year promises to be far more profitable than it has been for some time.

Where Nation's Milk Ends

FACTORIES absorb over 34 per cent of the American dairy cow's yearly milk production. More than three-fourths of this amount is turned out as creamery butter, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The amount of milk used as creamery butter is steadily increasing. To supply the demand of creameries in 1922 required seven billion pounds more than were used in 1914.

Cheese factories are the smallest unit of manufacture of any branch of the dairy industry. Only 3.7 per cent of the annual milk production is made into cheese.

There was a tremendous boom in the condensed milk industry during the European war. By 1919 the volume of exports totaled 40 per cent of the total manufacture. This was an increase of 5,100 per cent over prewar years. In 1920 exports were cut in half. This, with a 17 per cent shrink in domestic consumption, caused a sharp reduction of manufacture. Since 1920, however, condensed milk consumption has again doubled and the export trade is steadily improving. Nearly 90 per cent of the condensed milk made is manufactured in eight states—Wisconsin, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Washington and California.

The Year in the Dairy Market

DAIRY product markets have rung a number of surprising figures on America's agricultural cash register during the year 1924. The diversification program which many farmers have adopted has led, on the whole, to better production and larger profits, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute in a review of the dairy situation.

General opinion held that during 1924 butter prices would tumble from the stable level they had kept for the past three years and reach a lower price level in harmony with the extremely heavy production anticipated. January marked a high point for 92 score butter in Chicago at 55 cents. In April the drop in price occurred and 92 score fell to 35 cents. Then suddenly the unexpected twist in the situation. The former heavy imports dropped off when prices fell, for the importers could no longer make profits over the United States tariff wall of eight cents. Production within the country fell short of expectation during the spring and summer. Prices jumped accordingly.

The unusually favorable late summer and fall sent calculations flying again. At the time of the year when production is usually expected to slow up, 1924 turned the tables and output failed to decrease as rapidly as ordinarily during this period. Cows produced heavily. Consequently butter prices hung low over a doubtful market, running ten cents lower part of the time than during the same period in 1923.

With every man, woman and child in the country consuming an average of 50 gallons of milk in 1922 and a per capita increase of three gallons in this consumption showing for 1923, the possibilities of fluid milk markets loom up in dollars and cents. Fluid milk flooded the markets during a large part of the year, due to the favorable weather. It continued to pour into the nation's markets during the late summer and fall, but seasonal declines in November and December helped to hold the market steady at the close of the year.

DOG TAX IS PAST DUE NOW AND MUST BE PAID

The so-called dog law was passed in 1918—six years ago. It requires the payment of dog tax before January tenth; the tax must be paid to the township or city treasurer as they have the books until March 1st. Every effort has been made in the past to educate the people relative to this dog law without putting them to the embarrassment of an arrest; but the law compels the sheriff and prosecuting attorney to arrest and prosecute people who neglect to pay their dog tax. These officers give below a summary of the dog law:

I. The license fee is due for this year and should have been paid by January 10th and it is unlawful for any person to own or have possession of a dog unless he is now wearing a 1925 license tag.

II. A person who harbors a dog is presumed to be its owner.

III. No person has a right to allow his dog to leave the premises at night unless accompanied by the owner.

IV. The license fee is due when a dog becomes four months old whether the dog was assessed by the supervisor or not.

V. If the dog becomes four months old before July tenth he must pay a full year's tax; if after July 10th one-half the annual license fee must be paid.

VI. The dog tax should be paid to the Township Treasurer or City Treasurer now, as he has the books until March first, and after that time license fees should be paid to the County Treasurer. If every person obeys the law the money will be paid to the Township or City Treasurer.

VII. Unlicensed dogs may be killed by anyone and they can not be arrested thereafter.

VIII. After June 15th it is the duty of the Sheriff to kill unlicensed dogs and prosecute the people who have neglected to pay their license fee. He may do so before.

During the year 1925 every person must pay the dog tax. The tax is due now. Get your tag at once from the Township or City Treasurer.

FRED H. KAMFERBEEK, Sheriff.
